

Russia Kills Trade Pact; Blames U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has killed a major trade agreement with the United States and has nullified any understandings to relax restrictions on the emigration of Russian Jews, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says.

In a hurriedly arranged news conference, Kissinger said Tuesday night that "the Soviet government has now informed us that it cannot accept a trading relationship based on the legislation recently enacted in this country."

The Pentagon also disclosed Tuesday that the Soviet Union had begun installing missiles with multiple warheads. The recent U.S.-Soviet arms pact permits such a step.

Kissinger's mention of legislation referred to the new Trade Bill and Export-Import Bank extension act with their restrictions on credits for Moscow and refusal of equal trading arrangements unless Jews are allowed to leave Russia in greater numbers.

As Kissinger explained, "The Soviet government states that it does not intend to accept a trade status that is discriminatory and subject to political conditions."

Because Kissinger had given only the barest advance notice of his statement to members of Congress, there was no immediate Capitol Hill reaction.

A spokesman for Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the main supporter of the restrictive legislation, said no comment would be forthcoming until a complete study was done on the situation.

The chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major Jewish Organizations, Rabbi Israel Miller, said Tuesday the emigration issue was more than a simple domestic Russian question.

"Emigration is not an internal issue and human rights do not stop at national frontiers," he said, adding that his group will continue its pressure for better treatment of Russian Jews.

In Los Angeles, a spokesman for the Occidental Petroleum Corp. said that its contracts with the Soviets remain in force despite nullification of the trade agreements. Company officials have put the value of the contracts at up to $20 billion.

The Soviet renunciation was of a 1972 agreement in which Moscow said it would pay $722 million to settle its World War II Lend-Lease debt in exchange for American pledges to remove discriminatory trade barriers against commerce with Russia.

When the administration attempted to implement the pledge by asking Congress to extend most favored nation status to Moscow in a new trade reform bill, Jackson attached his now famous amendment despite strenuous warnings by Kissinger that the Soviets would reject it.

Co-sponsored by more than 70 senators with an equally overwhelming majority favoring similar moves in the House, Jackson demanded that the status not be given to any country seriously restricting emigration of minority groups.

He finally compromised with Kissinger and President Ford, agreeing to allow the restrictions to be waived if Ford could give assurances that Soviet emigration restrictions had been eased.

Referring to the Soviet action, Kissinger said "the administration regrets this turn of events. It has regarded and continues to regard an orderly and mutually beneficial trade relationship with the Soviet Union as an important element in the over-all improvement of relations."

Kissinger said he would continue to try for an acceptable U.S.-Soviet trade bill and he refused to be pessimistic about the future of detente.

"We have no reason to believe that the rejection of the provisions of the trade bill has implications beyond" the specific objections raised by Moscow, Kissinger said.

Before the Jackson amendment became an issue, Jewish emigration rose from a trickle to a yearly rate in 1973 of 35,000. According to the Inter-governmental Committee on European Migration in Geneva, the total dropped off 45 per cent last year.

In other developments between the Soviets and the United States: — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said the Soviets have begun deploying missiles capable of carrying multiple warheads which could be aimed at separate targets.

Schlesinger said there is evidence that the Soviets have placed their huge SS18 missiles in silos. The rocket has been tested with as many as eight multiple independently targetable warheads (MIRVs).

—The Defense Department estimates that a limited Soviet nuclear attack on U.S. nuclear weapons bases would kill 6.7 million Americans and injure another 5.1 million.

A massive attack on U.S. urban industrialized areas would kill an estimated 95 million to 100 million, according to information given to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last September by Schlesinger.

A declassified transcript of the testimony was released Tuesday.

Schlesinger told the panel: "I regard the likelihood of a nuclear war getting started between the United States and the Soviet Union as very low."

Ford Details Economic Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring "I've got bad news, and I don't expect any applause," President Ford outlined for Congress today his blueprint for rescuing the slumping economy through tax cuts and higher fuel prices.

Virtually all Ford's specific proposals were disclosed in his television-radio address to the nation Monday or by White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen at a news briefing Tuesday.

The major elements of the President's program include:

—A one-time tax cut of 12 per cent in last year's taxes, to be accomplished through rebates to individual taxpayers of up to $1,000.

—A long-term tax reduction starting this year, with the largest reductions going to the poorest taxpayers.

—Proposals to cut corporate income taxes and increase tax credits for businesses that spend money on their plants and equipment.

—Direct federal payments of $80 to each adult American too poor to pay any income taxes.

—An increase in revenue-sharing funds to state and local governments.

—A proposal for a $2-a-barrel tax on crude oil and higher excise taxes on oil, plus total decontrol of all domestic oil prices. The result would be an increase of about 10 cents a gallon for gasoline and home heating oil. White House officials also estimated that the excise-tax increase would cause a one-shot increase of 2 per cent in the Consumer Price Index.

—A request for standby authority to ration gasoline if higher costs fail to meet his objective of reducing oil imports by a million barrels a day this year and two million in 1976.

Ford did disclose a few new proposals in his State of the Union message and a shorter address delivered personally to a joint session of Congress.

Ford revealed he wants to stockpile 1.3 billion barrels of crude oil in tanks and underground caverns over a period of years so the country could cope with any repetition of the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo.

The President also said for the first time that he wants to grant utilities a three-year investment tax credit of 12 per cent "to specifically speed the construction of power plants that do not use natural gas or oil." The present tax credit rate for utilities is 4 per cent.

One presidential proposal that could ultimately have a major impact on the average citizen was not mentioned in Ford's text but was spelled out in a White House-prepared fact sheet.

The fact sheet said Ford wants a new law to require labels on all new automobiles and appliances spelling out how much energy they use.

In addition, the fact sheet said he wants agreement within six months from major manufacturers to develop energy efficiency goals that would achieve an average 20 per cent improvement by 1980. These would cover air conditioners, refrigerators and other home appliances.

"If agreement cannot be reached," the document said, "the President will submit legislation to establish mandatory appliance efficiency standards." The objective for this program alone was fixed at saving half a million barrels of oil a day by 1985.

Oil, Gas Price Hike Promoted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford asks Congress today to raise oil and gas prices on a public already burdened with inflation, recession and high fuel prices.

In his first State of the Union address, already previewed by the President, Ford planned to request an excise tax of $2 per barrel on oil and an equivalent tax of 37 cents per thousand cubic feet on natural gas. Together with a higher tariff on imported oil, which Ford already has the authority to impose, the steps are expected to raise the retail price of gasoline by around five cents a gallon.

The President also is expected to request standby authority to ration gasoline in case higher prices fail to deter energy consumption.

Other components of Ford's proposals are expected to include long postponements in the battle against air pollution, authority to let power plants burn more coal and steps to help automakers produce and sell more efficient cars.

The culmination of a yearlong policy study begun under former President Richard M. Nixon, Ford's new energy policy largely rejects direct government controls in favor of the indirect pressure of price and tax incentives.

Ford said Monday night in a nationwide broadcast that he would increase the tariff on imported oil by $3 a barrel over the next three months and ask Congress for excise taxes on oil and natural gas. The White House said the tax would be $2 a barrel and the tariff later would be lowered to match it.

Ford also said he would request a five-year postponement of auto exhaust limits due to take effect in 1977, in exchange for an effort by auto makers to improve gasoline mileage 40 per cent, from the present 14 miles per gallon to around 20.

Ford said his program would include a windfall profits tax on oil producers and some $30 billion collected from the fuels tax and windfall tax would be returned to the public through direct payments and tax credits.

Ford said his goal was to slow U.S. oil imports by one million barrels a day by the end of this year. If his tax pressures don't do the job, he warned, he would put direct limits on oil imports.

Natural Gas Pinch Seen For Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The natural gas shortage will not be alleviated within the next several years, an executive of Columbia Gas System, Inc., told the Columbus Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

"The situation will worsen until our vast potential reserves — between 750 and 1,500 trillion cubic feet — are developed," Richard A. Rosan of Wilmington, Del., said.

Rosan, executive vice president and general counsel of Columbia Gas, denied that his firm had been withholding gas to force passage of legislation to decontrol the wellhead price.

Rosan said about 20 to 25 trillion cubic feet of gas must be found each year for the next five to 10 years to alleviate the shortage.

Rosan said relaxation of controls on wellhead prices would allow more exploration and would result in an average price increase of about six per cent a year.

"And that's considerably less than the cost of alternate fuels — if they are available," he said.

Rosan also suggested the leasing of Atlantic offshore areas for natural gas and oil exploration and expediting the construction of a pipeline to bring gas from Alaska.

"Even if the proper climate (for gas reserve development) were created in the next six to 12 months," he said, "the minimum lead time for increasing gas supply is four to five years."

Kissinger, Allon Open Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon, hinting that Egypt may be ready to move toward an interim agreement, is beginning a new round of Middle East peace talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"Although the gap is still wide and deep I'm still very optimistic," Allon said on the eve of today's meeting with Kissinger.

Over two days he will see President Ford and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, as well as Kissinger, with prospects for a relaxation of tensions in the region possibly hanging in the balance.

Ford warned in a recent interview that the situation grows more serious "every day that we don't get some action for further progress."

Allon confirmed Israeli and American reports that the Israeli proposals for a Sinai withdrawal that he brought here last month have received a negative response in Cairo. "And yet I have reason to assume that Egypt believes Israel has indeed shown openness and willingness to enter a meaningful negotiation on an interim agreement," he said.

The foreign minister added that "It is in the genuine interest of Israel and even in the genuine interest of Egypt to start movement toward a genuine political agreement."

Kissinger is probing for a successful trade-off in which Egypt would move toward a peaceful existence with the Jewish state in exchange for recovery of additional territory in Sinai captured during the 1967 war.

U.S. officials have indicated Egypt will insist on at least the strategic Mitla and Gidi mountain passes or the Abu Rodeis oil fields which supply Israel with almost half its petroleum needs.

Allon sidestepped the question of whether he is carrying a concrete withdrawal plan. "It's not a question of proposals," he said.

"This is a chance for a common evaluation of the situation. The proposals can be evaluated afterward. The question is whether or not there is a chance."

Williamsport Slayer Seeks Commutation Of Sentences

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

The tenth anniversary of one of Pickaway County's more celebrated murder cases is marked by a plea of commutation of sentence. Judge William Ammer who was one of the three judges who heard the case in January, 1965 was recently notified that Daniel Ealey has applied to the State Adult Parole Authority for commutation of sentence.

Ealey was charged with two counts of homicide after he shot Gail Lewis and Emanuel Baldwin on Dec. 23, 1964 in a corridor outside their apartments in Williamsport. He and the two men and their families all lived in separate apartments over a grocery store and restaurant in the village.

According to testimony offered at his trial on Jan. 20, 1965, Ealey came home drinking and knocked on the two apartment doors and when the two men came out, he shot each one of them several times.

At the time of his trial, Ealey waived his right to a trial by jury and was tried by a three-judge panel consisting of Judge Ammer, Judge Merlin C. Parent and Judge C. W. Smith. Smith was at that time on the bench in Vinton County but has since retired.

Ealey was represented by Emory Smith, a Portsmouth attorney. Robert Huffer was county prosecutor at the time.

The accused man pleaded guilty to two counts of general homicide and the degree of the homicide was left up to the three judges. Ammer said they found him guilty of two counts of first degree murder but recommended mercy in the case. The case for the defense was primarily based on drunkenness as a reason for the murders. Ammer said if this had been proven the killings would not have constituted first degree murder.

The original trial lasted less than five hours. The judges heard three and a half hours of testimony and deliberated for one hour before passing sentence.

Ealey was subsequently sentenced to two consecutive life sentences. Under that sentence, the man would not be eligible for parole for 40 years. He was 47 at the time of the trial and will be 87 before being eligible for parole if the original sentence stands.

Later, the case was taken to the court of appeals and even petitioned to the Supreme Court of Ohio but the original sentence of the three-judge panel was never reversed and Ealey has been serving his sentence for the past ten years.

For several years after his term began, Ealey served as a caretaker on the grounds of the governor's mansion. This practice has been recently outlawed.

Robert Weinberger who was a member of former Gilligan's staff said that the Franklin County prosecutor had brought a suit against the Ohio State Penitentiary for allowing honor inmates to go out on speaking engagements and other programs. Shortly after this suit was instituted, the program which brought the inmates to the governor's mansion for domestic chores was also phased out.

A spokesman for the State Parole Authority said that Ealey had made a request for commutation of his sentence and the parole board was presently making an investigation into the case. At this time no recommendation has been made to the governor.

Weinberger said it was the right of any inmate to request on his own behalf commutation of sentence.

After the parole board completes its investigation and has reached a decision on the recommendation, the

Lima Shopping Malls Closing To Save Energy

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Two major shopping malls in this city of more than 50,000 have begun closing Sundays to save natural gas and jobs.

Merchants met a request by Mayor Harry Moyer to close Sundays in order to keep local industries which use natural gas operating.

West Ohio Gas Co. treasurer Tom Newland described the voluntary conservation measure as "a positive step."

The mayor asked the merchants to continue the Sunday closings through March 9.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market overcame some early hesitation to post a slight gain today on the strength of some unusually bright wholesale price figures from the government.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.74 at 651.44. Gainers outpaced losers by about an 8-7 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, the Labor Department reported that its wholesale price index actually declined in December — the first month in which that had happened since the autumn of 1973. But brokers reported enthusiasm over that news was dampened by concern in some quarters that President Ford's new economic and energy plans might have inflationary side effects.

Texaco was the most active issue on the NYSE, down 3/4 at 22 1/2. At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .20 to 67.02.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .18 at 38.30.

Syntex, the Amex volume leader, gave up 3/4 to 30 3/4.

Eight Defendants Appear In Common Pleas Court Today

Eight defendants appeared this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. Four of those people pleaded not guilty to the charges against them and the other four were sentenced.

James Rodney Billups entered a plea of not guilty to breaking and entering. Not guilty pleas were also entered by Ralph James Wolfe for theft and forgery. Wolfe has requested a jury trial and the cases will be set for trial.

Two Cleveland men, Jerome Henderson and Alvery McFarland, each pleaded not guilty to four charges brought against them by the January term of grand jury Monday. They will be tried on charges of aggravated robbery, theft, kidnapping and a secret indictment of misuse of a credit card.

After consideration of a pre-sentence report prepared on Neal Lewis, the court sentenced him to a term of six months to five years at the Ohio State Reformatory for Men at Mansfield. He pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Teays Valley High School and Assistant County Prosecutor James Kingsley agreed to recommend dismissal of the second charge of theft. Judge William Ammer gave Lewis credit for the time he has already spent in the county jail.

Kingsley also agreed to the reduction of three bad check charges against Theodore Hornbeck Riggins, Mt. Sterling. The charges were reduced to misdemeanors and Riggins pleaded guilty to all three counts. Judge Ammer suspended five of six months in the Pickaway County Jail and placed the defendant on probation for 18 months.

The prison term of six months to five years at the Ohio State Reformatory was suspended against William Edward Climer and the court placed him on probation for three years. He was charged and sentenced for grand theft.

Arnold Robinson appeared this morning for sentencing after a pre-sentence report had been prepared on him by the Adult Parole Authority. The court sentenced him to a term of six months to five years at Mansfield for breaking and entering. He was also given credit for time he has spent in the county jail.

findings along with that recommendation are forwarded to the governor's office.

Richard Gerhardt was appointed by Judge Ammer to represent Ealey shortly after he had been sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary. Ealey had filed with the court a petition for a post-conviction hearing which was granted. Gerhardt said Ealey had asked the court for a new trial at the time of the hearing but the motion was denied and Ealey was returned to prison.

Butz Sees Problems For Farmers

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz warns that farmers face serious problems with the new "consumer-oriented Congress."

"Half of the members of the House Agriculture Committee are brand new," Butz said Tuesday night. "Many of them represent urban areas, not rural ones, and they didn't get on there to help agriculture."

"We've got a whole flock of new congressmen who wouldn't know the working end of a cow if you showed them one," Butz told the Kansas Conference of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Butz also said he favors a larger wheat reserve but does not believe the government should return to its policy of stockpiling grains under government control.

"We've got a reserve in this country right now," he said. "It's in the hands of farmers and the grain trade. Government doesn't own a bushel of it and I don't believe it should."

Butz said the cattle industry faces hard going through the coming year, but he added:

"Our people haven't lost their taste for beef," he said. "Better conditions are on their way, but we're just going to have to hang on. We're going to have to eat our way out of this and it's going to take some time."

Auto Rebate Plan Works

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Area car dealers handling Chrysler Corp. vehicles report that Chrysler's rebate plan for car buyers is working.

Meanwhile, the work force at Chrysler's plant in suburban Twinsburg reflects the nationwide Chrysler situation with less than half on the job today.

Asked about the rebate plan under which a car buyer gets a refund from the company above whatever trade-in and purchase deal he arranges, one dealer called it "an excellent idea," and another said it already was increasing business. A third said it was "bringing out more people."

Another dealer said his "salesmen are feeling good because the people are out" and added, "If you get enough people out looking, they're bound to buy cars eventually."

Chrysler has cut back production and its work force nationwide in the belief that the decline in car sales isn't temporary.

Scioto School Schedules Visitation Day

Scioto Twp. School is sponsoring a visitation day for parents, 8:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. Thursday, according to Lee Sharp, principal.

The theme of the program is "A Family Affair in Education." Sharp believes success of the school depends greatly on the attitude and support the school has at home.

Programs available for the parents to view are remedial reading, speech and hearing, vocal and instrumental music.

Sharp also encourages the parents to visit the media center in which they will find equipment and material available to the child and teacher.

Parents planning to come for lunch should make arrangements so that the cooks may plan for additional service.

Fair Skies Favor Most Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies favored almost the entire country today, marred only by a scattering of rain and snow in the Pacific Northwest and light snow in the Midwest.

Arctic cold clung to the Eastern Seaboard and much of the Southeast. Temperatures dipped below freezing in northcentral Florida long before daybreak, and readings in the 20s were the rule northward along the East Coast. The teens chilled inland sections of the East.

Rain fell in parts of the Northwest and turned to snow at higher elevations. The new snow in the Cascades brought snow slides on many slopes.

Rivers filled to their banks from recent rains and melting snow were expected to rise above flood stage in parts of southwestern Washington.

Light snow sifted into the northeastern Mississippi Valley and central Great Lakes region. Accumulations generally were an inch or less.

Milder weather fanned into the midcontinent after three mornings of subzero cold. Temperatures were up to 20 degrees warmer overnight than a day ago.

Readings before dawn ranged from 12 at Alamosa, Colo., to 65 at Santa Cruz Island, Calif.

Hefner Blasts Investigation

CHICAGO (AP) — Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner says federal and state investigations of narcotics use in his Chicago and Beverly Hills, Calif., mansions are a "politically motivated, anti-Playboy witchhunt."

Hefner's secretary, Bobbie Arnstein, was found dead Monday in a hotel room with a note to an attorney beside her. Authorities said the cause apparently was a drug overdose. She had been sentenced to serve 15 years after being convicted in a cocaine conspiracy case.

Hefner told a news conference Tuesday that Miss Arnstein, 34, could have avoided indictment if she had fabricated charges of hard drug use against him.

Hefner said that because of pressure on her to supply information against him, "an already troubled girl was pushed beyond her endurance and killed herself." He said she had attempted suicide twice before.

Federal prosecutors were not available for comment. The court had said it would reconsider her sentence after seeing the results of a psychiatric examination.

Rhodes Reported Recuperating

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, his third day in office, remained ill at home again today, but his secretary, Emma Scholz, reported his condition was improved.

Claim Nixon Spoke To Burger

NEW YORK (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III says a cellmate told him former President Richard M. Nixon was confident after conversations with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger that he would not have to surrender the Watergate tapes.

"I am told he had some conversations with the Chief Justice — Chief Justice Burger — shortly after this suit was filed, or somewhere along the line, that gave him confidence that he indeed was going to win the lawsuit," Dean said in an interview with the "NBC Nightly News."

Dean, released from Allenwood, Pa., federal prison last week, said he was told of the alleged conversations between Nixon and the Chief Justice by Charles W. Colson when they shared a cell. Colson, a former White House aide, is still in prison.

Newsman for the National Broadcasting Co. reported that spokesmen for Nixon and Burger denied the former President and Burger had discussed the outcome of the suit filed by Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

A Page Of Opinion

Winter Recalled

Those who have insisted winters once were colder have no real means of comparison. A half century ago people hoofed it to work through drifts, or rode in chilly vehicles with icicles hanging from their noses.

Today they go from heated home to heated car to heated place of work. Livestock owners, who lost thousands of head of cattle in blizzards of half a century or more ago, now get ample warnings from the weather bureau. The traveler can call police or motor clubs before venturing forth. The pioneer could only try to sniff out a blizzard, usually unsuccessfully.

Those who sigh for the good old days surely will agree that this day has a better way with blizzards, even though the car is not exactly the best vehicle to cope with ice-sheathed pavements.

Let the meteorologists worry about receding polar ice caps and warming trends.

Memories of the past have a way of recalling the fun side of winter, as it was lived through the eyes of youth.

Kissinger's Threat

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Not since Calvin Coolidge's "I do not choose to run" has a statement by a prominent American attracted more puzzled scrutiny than Henry Kissinger's remarks in Business Week about a possible U.S. military attack on the Arab oil-producing states — to hammer the price down.

The parallel is drawn because Coolidge's classic line implied that he had not completed his thought. Several historians have deduced that he meant to continue the sentence with "...unless urged, of course." But nobody urged him, so he went to work for the New York Times and produced such literary gems as his assertion that when a great number of people are out of work, that leads to unemployment.

Kissinger's enigmatica ran like this: "I'm not saying there's no circumstances where we would not use force. But it is one thing to use it in the case of a dispute over price; it's another where there's some actual strangulation of the industrial world." Try to parse that!

So, now, are we or are we not planning to grab all those Arab multimillionaires by their beards and say, "Restore the old prices, and our economic exploitation of you, or we'll blow you into the Persian Gulf." Or are we simply reminding them subtly that they'd better stop messing around with Gene Autry? Yasir Arafat says we're ready to attack, and that those oil nations will sabotage their vast stores and installations if we do.

"Some actual strangulation of the industrial world," as Kissinger stated, has been with us for well over a year. The vise is tightening. The U.S. unemployment rate will rise to eight per cent of the competent work force this year, perhaps to ten per cent. That would produce a Depression almost if not completely as dire as that which struck the U.S. and the Western world in general in the early 1930s.

Largely because of a few men with names like King Faisal ibn Abdul Aziz al Saud of Saudi Arabia, the Emir Sabah s-Salim s-Sabah of Kuwait, and Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi of Libya, Italy is bankrupt, Japan convulsed in jitters, Britain more or less busted, and the U.S. gravely concerned. Great U.S. auto plants report that sales were off 23 per cent last year, the sharpest drop since 1958. Volkswagen of West Germany laid off nearly 90,000 workers at one crack around Christmas time. Its U.S. sales last month were 18,425 units, off 43 per cent from the previous December. Datsun diminished 44 per cent during the same period. Detroit? Don't ask.

Kissinger did not conceive the thought of the industrial world's possible retaliation against a weak section of the world endowed by Allah with much or most of the planet's energy-producing oil. The baleful vision may have been born in the angry minds of car owners waiting for hours in lines for a rationed splash of Super-X, of factory owners in a

The Glass Crutch

By JIM BISHOP

The maid saw him first. She let herself into the Tudor City apartment and was closing the door when her eyes caught the vision — a small handsome man with reddish hair, standing in the center of the living room rug with legs apart. From his open mouth long strings of blood hung in air.

She screamed and ran. When the building custodian arrived, William Wynne Wister was still there. At Polyclinic, the doctors made X-rays. His stomach had been sliced several times on the inner wall. What could have caused it?

They gave him whole blood, but he leaked it faster than they could give it to him and he died sleepy and smiling. The evidence was back at the apartment. Wister, ex-alcoholic and psychotherapist in alcoholism, had fallen off the wagon.

Each succeeding whiskey bottle became more difficult to open. So, alone and lonely, he had smashed the neck on the kitchen sink and drank. Small shards of glass killed him.

He had been my friend. I had written his biography, "The Glass Crutch," two years earlier. Bill grew up in Germantown of affluent, indulgent parents. He had been drunk for 19 years. A psychiatrist ironed the wrinkles out of his fears, and Wister studied at Columbia to become a doctor of alcoholics.

His work had been excellent. But the jealousies, the spite, the scourge of rejection were still with him. When the book was completed, we had lunch in the Roosevelt Bar & Grill. "Under what circumstances," I said, "would you return to drinking?"

He had a million-dollar smile. "Present me with an insoluble problem," he said. "That would do it." In time, bickering with his beautiful wife brought the problem. Bill loved her. She left him.

I think of Wister when I read of the vast labor now undertaken by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. They gave government money, but my feeling is that they cannot match the triumphs of Alcoholics Anonymous, where alcoholics work with alcoholics to remain dry one day at a time.

The young are switching from drugs to liquor. Out of 211 million persons, we have 9 million alcoholics and problem drinkers. Uncontrolled indulgence kills about 27,000 persons in automobiles every year. Half of all murders are perpetrated by drunks who cannot recall the final argument or the final act.

A half-million others are hospitalized with injuries resulting from drinking. At least three million homes exist in a state called Marriage on the Rocks. Many married women drink by day when the family is out. Husbands take two belts at lunchtime, two before taking the bus home, and three in the long, foggy evening at home.

Three drinks of liquor or eight bottles of beer will intoxicate most adults. Often, alcoholics sincerely deny that they have a problem and resist help because, "I can stop anytime. I just don't want to stop now."

HEW figures that drinking costs $15 billion a year in lost time at work. Nobody knows, really. Wister used to say that when a drinker's nervous system ordered him to drink, the bottle had command of the man. He was the first to state, in 1944, that "there are times when one is too many and a hundred are not enough."

High school boys and girls think they have chosen the lesser of two evils when they turn from drugs to cultivate liquor. What they have done is exchange one early death for another.

Sometimes, when Wister and I fell to chatting about booze, he would repeat the anecdote he didn't want me to include in "The Glass Crutch." When he was too sick to hold one more drink, he would collapse and phone his mother-in-law.

He didn't know why. When he was sober, he seldom saw her. She always took a cab and got him out of the gutter. She drew a hot bath, laid out pajamas, made hot soup, and put him to bed. She didn't even tell her daughter, Bill's wife.

The moment the shakes departed, Bill fled his mother-in-law's house. The warm, helpful lady seemed to be a stranger. In time, she died. After the funeral, he drew the job of cleaning out the cellar before her home was put up for sale.

He was sweeping. In the dusty mists of sunlight, he saw a sparkle on a cellar beam. Bill got a ladder. On the beams were 700 empty gin bottles. Then he realized why, in his alcoholic despair, he always turned to her.

But when she needed help, which was often, she had nobody. . .

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1975. There are 350 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1922, the Irish Free State was established.

On this date—

In 1535, King Henry VIII assumed the title "Supreme Head of the Church" in England.

In 1919, Ignace Jan Paderewski became the first premier of the newly created Republic of Poland.

In 1929, the United States ratified the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact.

Also in 1929, the American civil rights leader, Martin Luther King Jr., was born in Atlanta, Ga.

In 1932, France completed pacification of French Morocco.

In 1971, the Aswan High Dam in Egypt was dedicated.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson and Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada were meeting at the LBJ ranch in Texas.

Five years ago: In Nigeria, the dissident leaders of Biafra pledged to support the government after surrendering.

One year ago: A court-appointed panel of experts reported that an 18½-minute gap in a crucial Watergate tape had been caused by at least five separate erasures.

Today's birthdays: Pianist Malcolm Frager is 40. Former child movie star Margaret O'Brien is 38.

Thought for today: There is no pillow so soft as a clear conscience. — French proverb.

"The doctor said that the reason my arms hurt is that I need glasses."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I notice that my hair, in the past few months, has become particularly oily. I haven't changed soaps or shampoo habits. Could a medical condition be responsible?

Miss J. W., Ohio

Dear Miss W.:

Some people complain that oily hair occurs after the use of the shampoos and the soaps which are specifically made to combat dandruff.

Not all of these products will do this. Perhaps a change in the brand may be beneficial.

Similarly, some shampoos can cause an oiliness of the scalp and the hair.

There are some medical conditions which are related to some hormone imbalance. These should be investigated if the symptom persists.

When I have a sore throat I find that gargling is absolutely ineffective. Are there any better methods of easing a sore throat?

Mr. L. L. B., Maine

Dear Mr. B.:

A patient of mine who happened to be a heavy smoker constantly complained of persistent sore throat.

His beefy-red throat was characteristic of a smoker's throat, even in the absence of infection.

He devised a method which gave him great comfort. He uses one of the pulsating water machines used for dental hygiene.

He uses a salt solution containing about one teaspoon of salt to a pint of very warm water.

He devised his own attachment to the tip so that it widened the opening, thereby reducing the sharp thrust of the usual flow.

I have suggested this method of irrigation to a number of patients. They find it far more effective than gargling.

Does it help to wear masks to prevent passing an infection from an adult to a newborn baby?

Mrs. H. H., Ga.

Dear Mrs. H.:

Masks can indeed offer some protection, but must not be depended upon to filter out all germs. Even when one is worn, cooing and talking directly to the face of an infant may permit fine droplets of saliva to carry infection to the baby.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of a momentous change in economic policy, one of the most abrupt on record, some disquieting questions linger about the reasons why.

Just a few weeks ago there was considerable support within the administration for continuing to depress economic activity, the reasoning being that inflation was the No. 1 problem.

The Federal Reserve Board shared that outlook and responded by squeezing activity out of the money market, through the medium of high interest rates discouraging both individuals and businesses from borrowing.

It succeeded. To a very large degree the plunge taken by the economy in the fourth quarter of 1974, marked by a 7.1 jobless rate in December, was a direct result of administration and Federal Reserve policy.

The question: Why couldn't it have foreseen the results of the policy when those results were just around the corner beyond which all economic brains are constantly peeking? The lesson to be learned is either of two possibilities — that it is the nature of modern economies to lurch ahead and then all but expire, or that the people who lead modern economies really can't handle them.

And that brings up the next question: What assurance do we have that a tax cut and other stimulants won't some time in the next year provide the fuel for another destructive encounter with inflation? The best assurance there is that it will not is that the impact of the previous miscalculation still has so far to go. That is, no matter what is done now, the economy will continue downward for months more.

As First National City Bank puts it in its monthly economic letter, released Monday: "Further decline is so strongly programmed into the economy ... that it would require gargantuan policy measures to forestall it."

Only by 1976, it believes, "will the fruits of the reversal be clearly evident in the form of a declining unemployment rate, strongly rising sales and improved profits."

In the meantime, the worst recession since the great depression will continue to throw people out of work, threaten the financial stability of corporations and otherwise strangle economic activity.

And if you believe the past is a criterion, the ingredients for the next spasm of the economy, the next boom and bust, are beginning to ferment.

In a strictly mechanical sense, the cutting of taxes should provide economic stimulus. But who really knows what the people of the United States will do with that money? If only they behaved mechanically.

The assumption being made about human behavior is that given a sum of money an individual will spend it. But he might not. So alarmed is he about the future that he might just bury it in a safe-deposit box.

A certain amount of the money undoubtedly must be spent in order to survive, and that will stimulate economic activity. But human behavior has befuddled the economists before. Some people probably will salt it away.

Chairmen Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause says various House Committee chairmen violate standards of fairness and rules compliance in managing their committee.

Rep. F. Edward Herbert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, was accused of violating all points studied by the self-described citizen's lobby. Chairmen Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, of the House Administration Committee; W. R. Posage, D-Tex., of Banking and Currency and Housing, and Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., of Commerce and Health were cited for "significant shortcomings."

Common Cause listed seven other chairmen as failing to meet at least one of the standards used in the study: Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., Education and Labor; Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., Foreign Affairs; Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., Internal Security; James A. Haley, D-Fla., Interior and Insular Affairs; Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., Merchant Marine and Fisheries; Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., District of Columbia Committee, and Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., Science and Technology.

Teachers Retain Bargaining Agent

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown teachers voted by a three-to-two margin Tuesday night to keep the Youngstown Education Association as their bargaining agent.

Unofficial tallies showed the YEA with 627 votes, compared with 391 for the Youngstown Federation of Teachers, which had sought to become bargaining agent.

Alien Workers Face Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration may enlist the nation's employers in a voluntary search for aliens illegally seeking and holding jobs in the United States.

Immigration Commissioner Leonard F. Chapman said he is considering the voluntary approach if Congress once again fails to enact legislation requiring employers to check on the citizenship status of job applicants.

The recent sharp increase in unemployment has given fresh impetus to the Immigration Service's two-year campaign for such legislation.

"It's really an incredible situation," Chapman said in an interview Tuesday.

"While 6½ million Americans are unemployed, and that may go higher, there are at least a million and maybe two or three million aliens illegally holding jobs," he continued.

"The stereotyped image of the illegal alien as a little fellow working in the fields of the Southwest is out of date. They're now in heavy industry, light industry, construction work, driving taxis, working in clothing factories and restaurants. And they're making good money."

Lebanon Picketing Continues

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Lebanon City Council canceled its regularly-scheduled meeting Tuesday night and union officials announced plans to expand picketing against the city to protest dismissal of 18 workers.

Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said a union boycott campaign against the city would continue until the IBEW representation issue is solved.

Meanwhile, arraignment was held Tuesday for two strikers indicted for disrupting public services in connection with a power outage in December.

They are Benny Dyer, leader of the fired workers, and Bernard Mockabee, charged with complicity.

The workers who were dismissed walked out at the city power and waterworks plants Nov. 19. Three were jailed for defying court orders banning picketing and all were fired just before Christmas for violating the state's Ferguson Act, which prohibits public employees from striking.

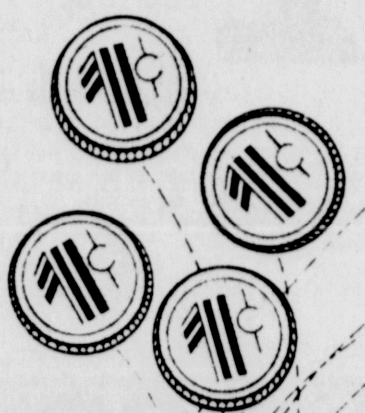

The workers had walked out demanding recognition of their membership in the IBEW.

Pickets have been posted in the business district, at city hall and other city facilities and at the homes of the mayor and city council.

Juvenile Court Issues 1974 Report

Juvenile Court Judge Guy G. Cline issued the annual report today on the activities of the court during 1974. A total of 844 cases were terminated and 841 new cases filed in the year.

Cases by type which were terminated are as follows: delinquency, 318; unruly, 150; dependent, 53; neglect, 24; traffic, 235; adult, 54. The court also granted consent for 13 juveniles to marry during the year.

On Jan. 1, 1974, there were 79 cases pending on the court's docket. On the last day of the year, there were 76 left pending.

Twelve boys and two girls were placed in the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission in 1974. Five boys and five girls were placed there on a temporary basis.

Of the 163 youths placed on probation, 117 were boys and 46 were girls.

Under dependent-neglected cases, the court placed only one boy in a foster home. Twelve girls and nine boys were placed with relatives; 20 girls and 15 boys were placed with the Pickaway County Children's Services.

Butz, AFBF Split Over Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, in what could be a major break with policies of the American Farm Bureau Federation, says farm labor disputes should be settled under existing federal law written basically for the protection of industrial workers.

The federation, which has a long record of opposing what it considers big-city type labor practices, has been a major supporter of many administration policies the past six years.

Citing what he called the senseless strife of farm labor upheavals, particularly in California and a few other states which depend heavily on hired farm labor, Butz said Tuesday he felt new legislation for agricultural labor was not possible.

"From a practical point of view, the only farm labor legislation that has a chance of becoming a reality at the federal level — and especially with the new Congress — will be substantial modification of the farm labor exemption under the National Labor Relations Act," Butz said.

Butz's remarks were in a prepared text of a speech for a meeting here of the National Council of Agricultural Employers. Farm labor has traditionally been excluded and exempted from federal labor law.

A spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation's national office here said it was the first he had heard of Butz being so apparently willing to accept existing labor law mechanisms for settling agricultural disputes. The federation, he said, is "strongly opposed" to extending the National Labor Relations Act to farm workers.

"One reason is that decisions and actions require so long," the spokesman said. "By the time the board (National Labor Relations Board) moves to settle something a crop could be lost."

Butz, however, stressed the views were his "personal position" but that he was in support of rules which would give farm workers basic rights. He said those would include free representational elections, collective bargaining for contracts and protection from certain unfair practices.

"These steps, however, should be taken only if the unique characteristics of the agricultural setting are acknowledged," Butz said.

He said farming cannot be shut down and products stockpiled while workers are on strike. The farmer's loss also is the consumer's, he said.

The Farm Bureau strongly opposes subjecting farm labor and employers to longstanding federal labor law and has sought legislation for a separate agricultural relations board or similar body empowered to weigh the special problems of farmers and their workers.

Butz noted that farm labor has historically been exempted from national labor law and federal supervision regarding contract disputes, stoppages and strikes. Therefore, he said, it is time "when we must give serious consideration" to including larger farm employers and their workers in the federal rules.

Toothache Gum Taken Off Market

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration filed suit in U.S. District Court to force a Cincinnati firm to remove toothache remedies from the market until they are proven safe.

A spokesman for C.S. Dent and Co., said the firm will probably destroy the questioned medicine, Dent's Toothache Drops Dent's Toothache Gum.

OPERATION AWARE, 1975: A&P CUTS FOOD PRICES

1. PRICE CUTS ON STAPLES.

A&P starts the New Year by cutting the price on A&P Brands of staples such as Dry Milk, Beans, Peanut Butter, Mayonnaise, Luncheon Meat, Fish Sticks, Spaghetti, Macaroni, Spaghetti Sauce, Cheese Slices, Frozen Shredding Potatoes and other items that are important to a family's diet. So now you can get meaningful savings on many frequently purchased items.

2. WEEKLY SPECIALS TOO... IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

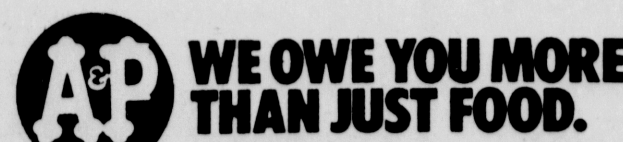

Outstanding weekly specials to include meat, fresh fruits and vegetables and grocery items. And when A&P saves you money on meat, that really means something. Because at A&P, you know you're always getting fully matured meat that's cut, trimmed and priced for value. Take our beef, for instance. We sell only one quality of beef at A&P. And it's backed by our unconditional money-back guarantee and our Butcher's Pledge. That's the A&P Butcher's promise to always pack the better side of every cut down. So if you like what you see in the store, you'll love what you see at home.

3. AWARE LIST CONTINUES.

We're continuing our Early Warning System against price increases: The Aware List. Every week we will voluntarily post a list of price increases, such as those received from manufacturers, a full seven days before we actually change our price. That gives you one week to purchase at the old price, subject, of course, to product availability. You'll also find "Be Aware" shelf tags on many frequently purchased items with the day of the price increase right on the tag. Of course, the Aware List won't include perishables like meat, eggs or fresh fruit and vegetables, where markets fluctuate daily, items controlled by law, or advertised specials.

4. CONSUMER PROTECTION POLICY.

We're of course continuing our commitment to making you an Aware Shopper by reminding you of what every A&P store owes you and by informing you of ways to get the most for your money. Look for the signs in A&P stores spelling out all the protection A&P gives you: 1. Guaranteed Satisfaction. 2. Exceptional Value. 3. Low Price with Absolutely No Compromise in Quality. 4. Rain Check Product Availability. 5. Product Freshness Through Open Dating. 6. Consumer Information. 7. Courteous Service. 8. Cleanliness. 9. Safe and Healthy Products. 10. Shopping Convenience. 11. The Butcher's Pledge. 12. Variety of Choice and 13. People to People Communication.

Woman Named NAACP Chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Bush Wilson says she assumes the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People elected her as its board chairman "because I'm competent and professional."

"My sex and race are accidents of birth," the St. Louis lawyer said in a news conference after her victory Monday. "I take them for granted."

Mrs. Wilson, a 55-year-old divorcee, defeated three men to become the first black woman to chair the civil rights organization in its 65-year history. She is the second woman to head the association. Mary White Ovington, a white woman and a founder of the organization, served as chairman and then acting chairman from 1917 to 1932.

Ladies Auxiliary Discusses Events And 1975 Projects

Ladies Auxiliary of the United Pentecostal Church held its January meeting recently at the church. The meeting was opened with group prayer. All the ladies took part in reading a verse of scripture from the 3rd chapter of James, which was to be used as the devotional text. Mrs. Glen James spoke of wisdom and applying it in daily living. Mrs. Darrell Hothem also read the 90th Psalm to give more insight into wisdom. Discussions were held on new ideas and projects to work toward in 1975.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Dan Imler, Mrs. Darrell Hothem and Mrs. Allen Poling.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Warm Thanks From A Cold Turkey

DEAR ABBY: I thought you might be interested in the following true story:

On November 29, I flew from Dallas, Texas to Little Rock, Arkansas. The flight was filled, and because I got on at the last minute I was given a seat in the NO SMOKING section.

I wanted a cigarette, so I took one out of the pack and put it in my mouth, but before lighting it, I turned to the very attractive lady who was my seat partner, and asked, "Do you mind if I smoke?"

She smiled a pretty smile and replied, "Why don't you do us both a favor, sir, and refrain?"

I was jolted. I put the cigarette back in the package and haven't had one since. In other words, I quit cold turkey! After being a two-pack-a-day man, that's quite an accomplishment. Nobody can believe it.

It took a few words from a stranger to get me to do something I've been putting off for years. Why am I telling you this, Abby? Because you were that woman. How can I thank you?

COLD TURKEY IN ARKANSAS
DEAR COLD: You just did. Write to me next year at this time, and if you're still "clean," I'll send you a present!

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that the Number One complaint of wives is, "My husband doesn't appreciate me."

Well, my husband must be an exception because he never leaves the table without saying, "Thanks for dinner, honey."

Gerald phones me from work every day just to ask how things are going with our five sons and me. He reminds me often that he loves me, and he never fails to tell me I look nice when I do.

I could fill a book with his good points, and couldn't even fill a page with his bad points.

We just celebrated our 12th wedding anniversary, and this was the best. They keep getting better every year, Abby.

I know this won't make your column because you have so many more important letters to print, but I just had to let you know that there's a wife in Monroe, N.Y. whose husband really does appreciate her.

MAUREEN HARAN
DEAR MAUREEN: I think it's important to let people know that there are good marriages, too, so accept my belated anniversary congratulations. And take good care of Gerald. He sounds like a prince. And you must be a pretty special wife to deserve such royal treatment.

DEAR ABBY: So the Number One complaint of husbands is, "My wife nags me!" Well, put me down as one husband whose wife nags him-and he's glad of it. Thank God she nags me. It shows she loves me.

I kept putting off going to the doctor to get a checkup, and she finally nagged me into going. The doc said I had to lose 25 pounds, and I kept putting off going on a diet, but my wife nagged me until I went to Weight Watchers. God love her. I finally went-and I lost 32 pounds! And I'm maintaining that weight.

Now my wife is nagging me to see a lawyer and have a will made. I haven't done it yet, but I hope she doesn't quit nagging me before I get hit by a bus.

So, Abby, old girl, please tell your readers that if a wife doesn't nag her husband, she doesn't really love him. Sign me . . .

Girl Hitchhiker Brutally Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police have raised the possibility that the slaying of a young woman hitchhiker may have been inspired by the Zebra attacks of last year.

"The motiveless and senseless style of attack is similar to the Zebra killings," Homicide Inspector Frank Falzon said Monday. "We are investigating the possibility that there may be a link. It's a possibility we cannot rule out at this time."

Thirteen white persons, many pedestrians, were slain at random here in 1974 by blacks for no apparent reason.

Janet Rodgers, 20, a white art student from Cincinnati, Ohio, was fatally shot in the head early Monday by a young black man, police said. She and a companion had been picked up by the man who drove them to Ocean Beach and suddenly opened fire with a revolver, they added.

The companion, Julia Kebling, 20, also of Cincinnati, a student nurse, survived by playing dead while the attacker emptied his weapon into the two young women after they fell on the sand.

Miss Kehling, shot in the back of the neck, was reported in satisfactory condition at San Francisco General Hospital.

In Cincinnati, Miss Rodgers' stepfather, George Leonard, described the slain woman as "a good person. One of the best." Her father died several years ago and her mother married Leonard.

Falzon said Miss Kebling gave officers this account:

She and Miss Rodgers were hitchhiking when a young black man, about 24, offered them a lift about 1:30 a.m. near Pacifica, about 20 miles south of San Francisco.

As they drove along Ocean Beach, south of the Golden Gate, the man suggested the two women get out of the car and enjoy the moonlit view.

Miss Kebling said they were stan-

3 Marooned By Snow Rescued

BROOKINGS, S.D. (AP) — Richard Bielski says his only nourishment during the 40 hours he was trapped in his snowbound car was frost he scraped from the windshield and some candies he had in the vehicle.

"I spaced them out because I had no idea how long I'd be there," the former Minnehaha County state's attorney said Monday from his hospital bed here.

Bielski, whose legs were frozen, was trapped in his car late Friday when it slid from Interstate 29 some 35 miles north of Sioux Falls and into five feet of snow. The Sioux Falls man said he could not open the doors of his car and that when the battery of his car went dead several hours later he was unable to open the automatic windows.

"I was sitting in the car with very little oxygen," Bielski said. "I don't know how I ever made it. Only the good Lord knows...."

"I was just praying with every bit of prayer I have in my body to save my legs," he said. "They were just frozen solid. The doctors are fearful of saving my lower limbs."

Bielski said three livestock truckers rescued him Sunday afternoon when they saw him waving through a peephole he had scraped through the frost on the inside of the vehicle.

The truckers hailed a passing motorist who drove Bielski to Brookings.

The winter snowstorm that caught Bielski also brought two 19-year-olds, David Archer of Sioux Falls and Julie Williams of Round Lake, Minn., together in another episode that almost ended in death.

Archer was driving a van on Interstate 90 west of Sherburn, Minn., Friday evening when he stopped to avoid Miss Williams' storm-stalled car.

She climbed into his van, but his vehicle got stuck.

Although his vehicle was not equipped for camping, his mother, Maureen Archer, said he was carrying a sleeping bag, a wool blanket and a quilt. Both he and Miss Williams were wearing snowmobile suits.

Mrs. Archer said her son kept the van's motor running intermittently until 5 a.m. Saturday, when he ran out of gas. A thermometer in the vehicle registered zero.

The two huddled together in the sleeping bag and rubbed each other's feet to keep the circulation going. They survived the cold without frostbite. Their only food was two cans of soup, a loaf of bread and some honey.

Mrs. Archer said the two slept alternately, but both had dozed off when a highway crew found them about 6 a.m. Sunday and pried open the frozen doors.

"It is a lucky thing that those men came by when they did because I don't think they would have awakened, ever," Mrs. Archer said.

Woman Innocent In Husband's Death

LEBANON, Ohio (A.) — Emma Lee Collins, 22, of Carlisle, was found innocent in a directed verdict by Warren County Common Pleas Judge William W. Young Tuesday in the July death of her former husband.

Thomas Burgess, 24, died of multiple stab wounds.

Witnesses testified that Mrs. Collins had been beaten during the incident at her apartment.

She was first indicted on a murder charge, but the prosecution had reduced the charge to manslaughter.

U.S. Warns North Viets Over Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States says recent heavy fighting in South Vietnam appears "to reflect a decision by Hanoi to seek once again to impose a military solution in Vietnam."

The United States formally accused North Vietnam of grave violations of the 1973 cease-fire in a note released Monday.

"The Democratic Republic of Vietnam must accept the full consequences of its action," the note warned without elaboration.

U.S. officials, including President Ford, have expressed concern about the situation since last week's fall of the provincial capital of Phouc Binh.

The officials have indicated the administration may ask Congress for massive military and economic aid for Saigon. But they have ruled out a re-entry of American troops.

The protest note was the third since the Jan. 2, 1973 peace agreement. The North Vietnamese have similarly charged U.S. violations, most recently in carrying on reconnaissance flights over its territory.

The U.S. note was addressed to the Soviet Union, the People's Republic of China, Britain, France, Hungary, Poland, Indonesia, Iran and United Nations' Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, as guarantors of the Paris agreement under which U.S. troops were withdrawn from Southeast Asia.

It included an eight-point bill of particulars against North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, charging the agreement had been ignored in virtually all its provisions.

The note said an escalation of fighting since early December has brought "the level of casualties and destruction back up to what it was before the agreement."

It charged Hanoi with illegally sending more than 160,000 troops, 400 vehicles, artillery and anti-aircraft weapons into the South.

The note also charged Hanoi with refusing to deploy teams to oversee the cease-fire and to pay its prescribed share of the expense of the International Commission of Control and Supervision. The Viet Cong also did not pay its share, the note said.

Grange News

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE
Saltcreek Valley Grange met recently with worthy master Francis Fraunfelder conducting the business session.

Doris Edwards, chairman of the CWA committee, read a thank you note which she received from the county youth for the lunch which was served at the conference.

Randy Wolfe reported on the youth activities. He announced the baking and sewing contest will be held Feb. 1. Saltcreek Grange will present the program at Nebraska Grange Feb. 4.

Lecturer Paul Dunkle conducted the program of the Saltcreek Grange, using the theme "Something Old or Something New." He showed slides of his recent trip to New York.

The next meeting will be birthday month for members with birthdays in October, November, December and January as guests.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Don Minor and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delong.

Insurance Director Takes Public's View

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new insurance director, nearly 30 years in the business, expects to view his new job from the standpoint of the insurance-buying public.

Harry V. Jump of Willard, Ohio, became the director of the Department of Insurance Monday as Gov. James A. Rhodes took office.

The 60-year-old director went into the insurance business in 1946 when he bought a small agency which he still owns, in Willard.

"As an agent my interest lay with the public consumer, the insurance buyer," he said. "In a small town you have to satisfy the consumer or you don't sell much insurance."

Jump got previous experience in the state insurance department in 1969 and 1970 as deputy director. He had resigned from the Ohio General Assembly where he served as a Republican senator to take the post of director. That job lasted only one day.

The problem was that the legislature had approved increases in administrative salaries, including that of the insurance director, while Jump was a senator.

Scope Of CIA Investigation Poses Problem For Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its first day of hearings, the Rockefeller commission on the CIA switched signals over how far it intends to go in investigating what one former director called a relatively small number of "misdemeanors."

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller first indicated to reporters Monday that the commission did not have enough time or staff to investigate information volunteered by former CIA agents.

"I don't think we're capable of coping with that at this time," Rockefeller said. He said ex-agents "are frankly no longer employed and we'd have to then go out and investigate their information."

However, within an hour, Rockefeller's office issued a statement that the commission "would welcome any specific, factual information from individuals, especially former or present members of the CIA, relating

The Ohio Constitution forbids a legislator accepting any state post for which the salary has been raised during his legislative term until at least a year after his elected term expires.

Another legal consideration, state ethics laws, will mean Jump cannot operate his insurance agency once he takes office. Jump said he is investigating if he can put the agency in a trust instead of selling it.

"Something will be done to separate me from the agency," he said.

Jump said the separation is a technicality. A Willard, Ohio, insurance agency does not have a great impact on the insurance industry as a whole, he said.

Since 1971 Jump has been clerk of the Ohio Senate, a job that ended last week when Democrats took over majority rule in the Senate.

Jump's public life began in 1948 when he was elected to the first of two terms as Huron County commissioner.

He also served five terms in the Ohio House of Representatives before being elected senator in 1966.

to domestic activities of the CIA."

The eight-member panel headed by Rockefeller heard testimony from CIA Director William E. Colby and his two predecessors, James R. Schlesinger and Richard M. Helms. Both Colby and Helms, now ambassador to Iran, declined to talk with reporters after their separate appearances before the panel.

Schlesinger, who headed the spy agency for six months in 1973, told reporters that "certain things came to light" in the course of a "review of intelligence activities at the agency which was precipitated by the Watergate episode." Schlesinger, now secretary of defense, declined to describe them in more detail but said they covered a period of some 20 years and that "the number of misdemeanors in that period was, I think, quite small."

Rockefeller confirmed that Schlesinger had made the same statement to the commission in closed session but said no details of the so-called misdemeanors had been discussed.

Asked if any of the three officials had confirmed published allegations that the agency spied on radicals in the United States, he said, "I don't think the commission is going to try to jump to any conclusions" before completing its three-month investigation.

The vice president said that the commission would call as witnesses former CIA directors John A. McCone and Adm. William F. Raborn Jr.

David W. Belin, a 46-year-old Iowa lawyer who served on the Warren Commission that investigated the assassination of President Kennedy, has been named executive director of the panel. Belin's appointment has not yet been officially announced by the White House because his top secret security clearance has not been completely processed.

Belin had to step out whenever classified material was discussed during the 7½-hour meeting.

Coleman Conflicts Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's planned nomination of William T. Coleman Jr. to be secretary of transportation is expected to raise questions about Coleman's ties to Pan American World Airways.

The Transportation Department has been working with the financially ailing airline in an effort to keep it solvent. Coleman is a member of the airline's board.

Deputy White House Press Secretary John Hushen said Monday that Ford plans to name Coleman to succeed Claude S. Brinegar, who has resigned effective Feb. 1.

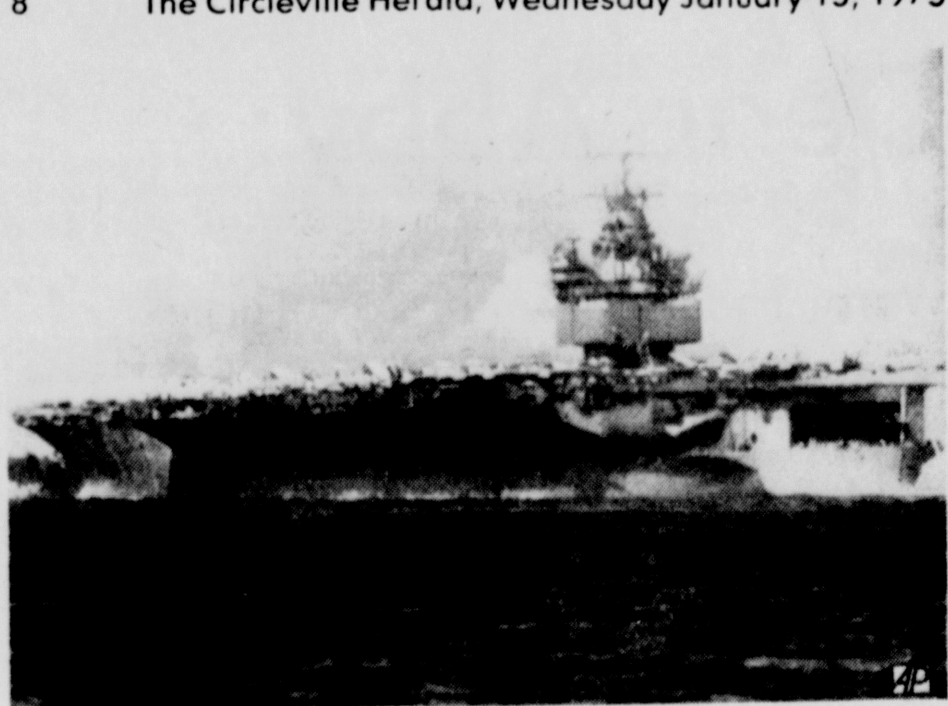

If confirmed by the Senate, Coleman, a former president of the NAACP's Legal Defense and Education Fund, would become the second black Cabinet officer in history. Robert Weaver served as secretary of Housing and Urban Development under President Lyndon B. Johnson from 1966 to 1968.

Coleman's formal nomination apparently will await completion of FBI checks into his background.

Coleman, a 54-year-old Republican from Philadelphia, has little background in transportation other than his tie to Pan American.

Coleman has served as a part-time official or consultant in four previous administrations. A 1946 graduate of Harvard Law School, he was a law clerk to the late Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Coleman has been involved in several landmark civil rights cases. He helped draft the brief that led to the 1954 Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation. He also was instrumental in the high court's decision in 1965 to overturn a Florida law banning cohabitation between members of opposite races.

Prof Pushes Tax Policy Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although "stagflation" may begin to release its stranglehold on the U.S. economy by summer, an Ohio State University economist says immediate strong fiscal policy changes would hasten the economy's recovery.

Dr. Paul G. Craig, professor of public administration and economics, said it will be 1976 before the unique combination of virulent inflation and stagnant output, known as stagflation, completely loosens its grip on the country.

Craig suggested several changes, including increasing the supply of money and levying a substantial tax reduction.

"We need to allow the supply of money to grow more rapidly than it has recently to allow lower interest rates sooner," Craig said. "By doing that, we would also stimulate housing and other business investment."

"We also need a tax cut in the $15 to $20 billion range," he said, "in order to give the consuming public an increase in spending power."

Craig said, "The fear that has kept (President) Ford from doing it quickly is a result of inflation and the feeling that if you stimulate the economy, inflation will become worse instead of going away."

That view is wrong, Craig said, because there is "a lot of slack in the economy right now."

He said an increase in spending would use the economy and enable consumers to pull industry out of its slack back toward full use.

Craig suggested implementing a tax cut by sliding the present income tax schedule down one or more income brackets.

The U.S. public in the certain income brackets would get an immediate "raise" on the next paycheck because of less money withheld, Craig said.

The economic horizon, while gloomy, hides clearer skies, Craig said.

"The rate of inflation will recede during the next six months to something like a rate of 6 or 7 per cent," he said, instead of the present annual rate of 12 per cent.

Interest rates, which soared to a new high of 12 per cent during 1974, have started and will continue to fall during 1975, he said. Craig predicted the prime interest rate would drop to 8 per cent by summer.

Mortgage rates will also fall, he said. And as a result of these changes in the economic weather, the barometer of business — the stock market — will begin to recover and turn upward, Craig said.

Craig said the economic turnaround would come without progressive policy changes, but added that his suggestions would aid the U.S. economy toward a fast and full recovery.

FREE BEEF THE HARD WAY—Spectators at a calf kill in Como, Tex., drag away carcasses of three of the dead animals. Some of the estimated 500 persons who attended the event carried away carcasses. The calves were shot by ranchers to protest what they termed the government's do nothing policy towards them.

New Lightweight U.S. Fighter Put On Bid Block For NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is intensifying its sales pitch to four NATO nations, now that the Pentagon has decided on the 1,500-mile-an-hour YF16 as the Air Force's new light-weight plane.

A 16-man team of Pentagon and State Department officials is in Brussels prepared to deal with Belgian, Dutch, Norwegian and Danish authorities who are shopping for 350 planes to replace their aging U.S.-built F104s.

The climax in a nearly three-year competition came late Monday when the Pentagon announced that the General Dynamics Corp.'s YF16 jet had been chosen over the Northrop Corp.'s YF17 for full-scale development as the Air Force's light-weight air combat fighter.

However, Northrop signaled in a statement that it probably will continue the competition by trying to sell its plane abroad even though that runs against U.S. efforts to standardize equipment used by NATO.

Defense officials have predicted that eventual sales of the U.S. lightweight fighter around the world could total 3,000 planes worth up to $15 billion to $20 billion.

The U.S. Air Force plans to buy at least 650 of the new fighters, which are intended to complement more sophisticated and more costly warplanes like the F15.

Secretary of the Air Force John L. McLucas said the YF16 showed, in the course of six months of intensive flight testing, that it is superior to the YF17 at supersonic speeds in such key characteristics as agility, acceleration and endurance.

He also said the YF16 would be about 8 per cent cheaper than the YF17, in part because it would use an engine now in production for the F15.

Defense ministers and experts of the four NATO countries have been courted for months by both the Pentagon and the French Defense Ministry, which is pushing Mirage's F1.

McLucas told a news conference late Monday that a final proposal has not yet been made to the NATO consortium and that the European decision is expected within 90 days.

McLucas indicated the Europeans could expect to pay about the same price as the U.S. Air Force for the new air combat fighter.

The Air Force price, counting research and development costs, works out to about $6.7 million a plane, he said. If the price was based on "fly-away" cost, without research and development, it would come to about $4.6 million.

Chrysler Sales Reported Rising

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chrysler dealers throughout the nation report some new car sales and increasing showroom traffic on the first day of Chrysler's price discount promotion.

"Somebody had to get the ball rolling and finally they realized it all starts in the showroom," Lewis Palombi, sales manager at Fiermonti Chrysler-Plymouth in Lemoyne, Pa., said Monday.

Not all the customers were after the cars eligible for a discount under the Chrysler "Car Clearance Carnival."

"I was a little dubious until we got into it, but it looks good," a St. Louis Chrysler sales manager said Monday after selling three cars before noon.

"Our inventory is so high, we need the sales," he added.

The five-week Chrysler plan offers a rebate to customers buying selected models. This week the automaker also is offering an additional $100 to buyers who trade in a subcompact Ford Pinto or Chevrolet Vega.

The current $200 rebate is good for the purchase of a Dodge Dart Swinger or Plymouth Duster. The Duster carries a sticker price ranging from $3,243 to $3,979. Swingers list between $3,341 and $3,640.

Non-Chrysler dealers generally are watching the promotion closely.

"We haven't had any great reaction to it yet," said Bob Snyder, general sales manager at Roy O'Brien Ford in Detroit. "Of course, it's too soon to know, really."

"We've had a couple of calls on it, to see if Ford was going to do anything like Chrysler. But I can't say we've sold any cars today because of the Chrysler promotion."

Chrysler's campaign was an effort to unload an inventory of unsold new cars which would take an estimated 130 days to sell. A 60-day supply of cars is considered adequate.

Music Promoters Feel Recession

By MARY CAMPBELL

AP Music Writer

Rock promoters are singing the recession blues. Their audiences are dwindling and their rankings shrinking as inflation eats up teenagers' spending money.

"This is the first year that rock 'n' roll hasn't operated outside the real world with its real problems," says Howard Stein, whose Academy of Music more or less has succeeded the closed Fillmore East as New York's Carnegie Hall of rock. "The kids are being forced to make decisions about which shows they will see and the many they won't see, as opposed to buying all the major concerts almost automatically."

"Basically, concert attendance is off somewhere between 25 and 40 per cent across the country. Right now, in a business that had maybe 30 well-known promoters, in my encyclopedia of promoters there are maybe 12 major ones left. And I believe there will be about six solvent ones by the end of spring. It's going to be a Darwinian era — it will be the survivors."

Ron Powell, who books concerts in 16 cities in the Midwest and the South, agrees. "There aren't many of us left," he said. "It is a luxury, let's face it. These kids can survive without rock."

Powell blamed the downturn totally on the economy. The music is still popular, he said, predicting record sales would go up as concert attendance goes down.

Bill Graham, who books many of the big cross-country tours, including Harrison, the Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young reunion tour and Bob Dylan in 1974, says: "I think the rock tour has reached its peak. It could go on for years, but I can't see how it could get much bigger."

"You know, the superstar groups will still have no trouble selling out wherever they go — the Rolling Stones, Elton John, Jethro Tull, Led Zeppelin — but the mid-range groups and the new groups will be hit hard. It used to be you'd book one headliner and two unknown acts. Now you'll book two well-known acts with one unknown. There'll be fewer opportunities for new groups."

Jerry Weintraub, who booked Led Zeppelin, was the only promoter interviewed who said he was untroubled by the nation's economy.

"I've had no problem with my artists," he said. "I do big concerts, in big places, and all my artists are big stars. We've had no problems. We've raised ticket prices, in fact. I get $15 for Sinatra, $10 for Presley and there's a top of $8.50 or $9 on the top rock acts."

King Social Change Center Set

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Construction gets under way on the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Social Change today as part of daylong ceremonies marking the 46th birthday of the slain civil rights leader.

But King's widow, Coretta Scott King, said the center already is deeply involved with the issues she says breed violence — hunger, unemployment, voting rights and racism.

"The center enables us to go out and struggle against the evils in our society," said Mrs. King, whose husband died at the hands of an assassin in Memphis, Tenn., nearly seven years ago, on April 4, 1968. "A lack of jobs spells violence," she said in an interview. "Hunger is violence. Any form of injustice is violence."

As part of the ceremonies marking King's birth, the two-story frame home where he was born will be opened for the first time as a national historic site.

Originally planned as a library for King's papers and other documents of the civil rights movement, the Center for Social Change, now in temporary quarters, soon expanded into a center of knowledge, history and culture of black people.

Last year, the center sponsored a two-day conference in New York City on the problems of American cities in the 1970s — housing decay, delivery of city services, the flight of population and businesses to the suburbs.

It also sponsored a national conference on unemployment, which drew representatives of the National Council of Churches of Christ, the League of Women Voters, the United Auto Workers, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the United Mine Workers and Common Cause.

"Hundreds of leaders have seen the conference as a new coalition uniting people who have not worked together in a decade for fundamental change," said Mrs. King.

The center's nonviolent education program has drawn visitors which included a Russian scholar and black and white members of the Army's Racial Awareness Program.

The new building site will include permanent entombment of King's crypt and a peace chapel next to Ebenezer Baptist Church, where he preached. Freedom Hall, the center's main building, also will be erected on the site.

Mrs. King said more than $4.3 million of the $10 million needed to construct the center has been raised.

City Hall and public schools in Atlanta were to be closed and Mayor Maynard Jackson, a black, called for the designation of King's birthday as a national holiday.

173 Khmer Rouge Insurgents Killed

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government forces killed 173 Khmer Rouge insurgents in a series of attacks and counterattacks around besieged Neak Luong, the Cambodian military command claimed today.

The command said its forces also captured a large quantity of war materials from the insurgents threatening the naval base town on the Mekong River 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Government casualties were not reported.

Military sources reported an estimated 20,000 refugees have crowded into the town since the Khmer Rouge began a dry-season offensive on New Year's Eve. The sources said the insurgents' shelling has killed about 50 civilians and wounded about 200.

Khmer Rouge guns now dominate more than 40 miles of the Mekong shipping channel to Phnom Penh. No supply convoys from Saigon have come up the river for 26 days.

Troop reinforcements are being flown to Neak Luong by helicopter, military sources said.

The insurgents shelled Phnom Penh's airport for the 10th day, an army source reported. He said eight 107mm rockets were fired, and four sentries were wounded.

In South Vietnam, Viet Cong gunners fired five rockets into Tay Ninh City, a provincial capital 55 miles northwest of Saigon, killing four persons and wounding 23, the military command reported.

A communique said almost all the casualties were civilians.

Tay Ninh is in the area below the Cambodian border north of Saigon where the North Vietnam and Viet Cong have a strong foothold. It is west of Phuoc Long province, which the Communist command's forces captured in December and early January.

The North Vietnamese captured a government base overlooking Tay Ninh City at that time, but no indications of an attempt to take the city have been reported.

In Laos, the official Lao Press news agency announced that the Soviet Union has agreed to build a new city on the site of a town on the Plain of Jars that was leveled by U.S. B52 bombers.

Tax Indexing Bill Pushed By Coughlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Annual adjustments to income tax rates, standard tax deductions, personal tax exemptions, depreciation allowances and U.S. savings bond interest rates to reflect cost-of-living changes were proposed in a bill being introduced in Congress today.

Rep. Lawrence Coughlin, R-Pa., called the bill "major tax reform legislation that provides for a $17.6 billion income tax cut" with annual adjustments reflecting living cost changes as measured by the Consumers Price Index.

This would "end the government's tax windfall which results when inflation-plagued citizens are continually pushed into higher and higher tax brackets," Coughlin said in a statement.

Coughlin said other sponsors of the legislation include Reps. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio; Philip M. Crane, R-Ill.; Walter Flowers, D-Ala.; Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., and Joe Moakley, D-Mass.

He gave no figures on what the bill would mean in terms of dollars going to the average taxpayer, but said the $17.6 billion tax reduction estimate was furnished by the Library of Congress on data based on fiscal 1974 which ended last June.

During the past decade, the Consumer Price Index has more than doubled, he said. Inflation has risen by more than 12 per cent in the last year alone.

"While it is clear that the American consumer is hard hit by inflated prices, it is less immediately apparent that, owing to the present tax structure, inflation forces the American taxpayer to pay a steadily higher effective tax resulting in a windfall to the federal Treasury," Coughlin said.

"For example, a family whose income was $10,000 ten years ago would need to have an income of $20,000 today in order for the purchasing power of its income to remain constant."

"Yet, at $20,000 a higher rate of taxation is paid than at $10,000 with the result that the taxpayer is worse off in real terms. If inflation rises by 11 per cent, tax revenues flowing to the Treasury rise by something more than 11 per cent."

Businesses, he said, "are similarly short-changed when they are forced to compute depreciation allowances on the basis of past costs without reference to the impact of inflation."

PICKAWAY TWP. PTO

The January meeting of the Pickaway Twp. Parent Teacher Organization was held Jan. 9 with James Eads presiding. Devotions were led by Tacie Dumm. The minutes of the November meeting were ready, and the treasury balance was reported at $426.48. Room count was won by the fourth grade.

Logan Elm District Superintendent John Henn reported that Carl Conrad has been contracted to install new spouting and down spout and to clean the underground drains of the building at a cost of $3,600. Mrs. Posey presented a reading program of the American Association of University Women on Reading Is Fundamental. A motion was passed for the PTO to make a donation of $60 to the organization. Following the meeting a film on 4-H Clubs was shown by Leslie Parsons, 4-H program assistant. Various 4-H Club projects were also displayed. Coffee was served following the meeting.

Happy Rockefeller Decorates House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Happy Rockefeller calls it "a nice old house." The leaky roof has been fixed, the plaster repaired and electricians are taking a look at the old wiring.

It may not be what a Rockefeller would choose, but if the wife of the new vice president has her way, their official residence on Observatory Hill will be "a wonderful, warm house for intimate entertaining ... where people can have a good time and put up their feet and relax."

Guests also can have their hair cut in the basement barbershop, select a bottle from the wine cellar and be waited on by a staff of nine Navy stewards.

"That includes the shift changes," Mrs. Rockefeller added quickly. "I don't want people to think there are nine servants here all the time."

Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller came to

Knowles Tape Closes Case Of Murder

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Crawford County officials announced Tuesday they had closed their investigation into the strangulation of a Musella woman after reading a transcript of a portion of the taped diary of Paul John Knowles.

Sheriff L. A. O'Neal said the body of Kathy Sue Woods Pierce, 24, was found Aug. 23 in the bathroom of her house, a telephone cord around her neck.

O'Neal said he was instructed by the federal grand jury in Macon which is listening to the diary "not to reveal any information on the tapes."

Macon Dist. Atty. Fred Hasty said his office also had received a summary of the tapes. But he said his investigation into the death of Edward Hillard, 24, and the disappearance of Hillard's girlfriend, Debbie Griffin, 20, both of Jacksonville, Fla., was continuing.

Hillard's body was found in the western part of Bibb County Nov. 15. Officials indicated he could have been slain after Knowles made the taped diary and turned it over to his Miami attorney Sheldon Yavitz.

Knowles was charged with seven murders in three states before he was killed while attempting to escape custody near Douglasville, Ga. Douglas County Sheriff Earl Lee testified at an inquest that Knowles had admitted killing 18 persons in seven states.

U.S. District Court Judge Wilbur D. Owens Jr. ruled Jan. 7 Knowles' diary would remain in custody of the federal grand jury until it concludes its investigation. Owens said law enforcement authorities, however, could have written transcripts of portions dealing with crimes committed in their jurisdictions.

4 Ohioans Die In Crash

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Four Ohio men were killed Monday when their twin-engine plane crashed in the mountains about 32 miles southeast of here, the Colorado Civil Air Patrol said.

The victims, whose bodies were recovered Tuesday, were identified as Phillip Glaser, 26, Charles Spitler, 42, Robert Schroll, 23, and James Shank, 39. All of the victims were from McComb, Ohio, except for Spitler, who was from Findlay.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the weather was good when the men took off from here in their Cessna 210 en route to Ohio. The four were believed to have been in Aspen on a business and pleasure trip, he said.

A search was begun Tuesday when the Aspen airport picked up the signal of an emergency locator transmitter aboard the plane. The wreckage and bodies were recovered just south of Independence Pass at an elevation of 11,700 feet.

The cause of the crash had not been determined.

Firms Push Auto Sales

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio manufacturing firms, saying they want to help the sagging auto industry, have promised cash bonuses to any of their 4,700 employees buying new cars.

The Reynolds and Reynolds Co., headquartered in Dayton, apparently made the first move. The firm said it will pay $150 to any of its 2,500 employees who buys a new domestic car by the end of the month.

Later Tuesday, a Mentor fastener maker said it would pay $100 "cash rebates" to any of its 2,200 workers buying a new car or truck before April 1.

John J. Lohrman, president of Russell, Burdick & Ward, Inc., of Mentor, said the offer applies to all employees in four RB&W plants and three subsidiary plants throughout the country.

Lohrman said he hopes the offer will "contribute to increased automotive sales and, in turn, improve the economy in general."

town Tuesday, from the Rockefeller estate in Westchester County, N.Y., to watch her husband, the new vice president, preside over the opening of the 94th Congress. She plans to move to Washington and into the new vice presidential mansion before summer.

Displaying disarming good humor and charm, Mrs. Rockefeller escorted about 50 reporters and photographers through the unfurnished, 82-year-old mansion in the Embassy Row section of the capital.

Called "The Admiral's House," it was formerly occupied by the chief of naval operations and sits on a 12-acre hillside owned by the Navy.

It was only Mrs. Rockefeller's second tour of the six-bedroom house. But with journalists crowding her as she walked from room to room, it was unlikely she got any idea of how she wants to decorate the place, which was the reason for her visit.

"It's hard to see with all of you here," Mrs. Rockefeller said with a laugh during a relaxed tour that included the master bedroom and the tiny, vice presidential bathroom.

Mrs. Rockefeller compared the size of the house to the Governor's Mansion in Albany where they lived while her husband was governor of New York. "About the same, but that was already decorated when I moved in," she said.

She said she tends towards warm colors and colonial furnishings, "Williamsburg-type." The Rockefeller family financed much of the restoration of colonial Williamsburg, Va.

Asked if she and her husband will display art from their collection, Mrs. Rockefeller said, "That's a question you should ask Nelson. He has some nice American prints. You know, 'Washington Crossing the Delaware,' Currier and Ives."

State Files Chicken Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A suit against the National Broiler Marketing Association of Atlanta, Ga., and 38 food processors who are members of the group for allegedly conspiring to fix prices was filed by the State of Ohio Tuesday.

A similar suit recently was filed by the U.S. Department of Justice. The suit charges the defendants with limiting competition by fixing minimum prices for chickens, controlling and withholding supplies in order to increase prices.

The state is a large consumer of broiler chickens for its colleges, universities, public schools, prisons and hospitals.

The court was asked to declare the alleged anticompetitive activity a violation of the Sherman Act.

Forecast

OHIO Variable cloudiness tonight with a chance of snow flurries northeast. Lows in the teens and low 20s. Cloudy with a chance of snow Thursday. Highs from mid 20s to mid 30s.

NORTHWEST INLAND WEST LAKE SHORE

Variable cloudiness tonight. Lows in the teens. Cloudy and a chance of snow Thursday. Highs 25 to 30.

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL SOUTHWEST SOUTHEAST

Variable cloudiness tonight. Lows in low 20s. Cloudy Thursday with a chance of snow. Highs in the low to mid 30s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clouds were in the forecast for Ohio today, and a little light snow is likely as a weak low pressure trough moves into the state.

The snow was expected to end from the west this afternoon or evening, except for a chance of flurries continuing tonight off Lake Erie in north-eastern Ohio.

Warmer temperatures were forecast for this afternoon, reaching the mid 20s in the north and the low 30s in southern Ohio.

Some of the season's coldest weather was recorded Tuesday across the state. Youngstown reported a high of 16 and dropped to 8 degrees Tuesday night. At Toledo Airport, the overnight low was 3 degrees under clear skies.

Mills Sworn In At Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills has been sworn into the 94th Congress at Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he has been confined since Dec. 3.

A Navy spokesman said the Arkansas Democrat, former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was sworn in Tuesday by Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr., D-La., one of Mills' closest friends in Congress.

Earlier in the day, the House passed a special resolution permitting the ceremony to take place outside of the House chamber.

Mills entered the hospital several days after a trip to Boston, where he appeared on stage with stripper Fanne Foxe. He has since said his recent problems were due to alcohol and has said he will stay away from liquor.

Fugitive's Life Poor

NEW YORK (AP) — Jane Alpert says her four years underground as a fugitive revolutionary took her all over the country, always frightened of discovery. She says it was anything but glamorous.

She told the New York Post in an interview published Monday that it was an endless string of menial jobs, a life that was "humdrum, lonely and isolated."

Miss Alpert, who jumped bail in May 1970, surrendered last November. She was sentenced on Monday to 27 months in federal prison on her guilty plea to aiding in a series of leftist bombings here.

The sentence includes 18 months for conspiracy and nine months for bail jumping. Miss Alpert, who could have received a sentence of up to five years, will be eligible for parole after nine months. She will enter prison Jan. 27.

Reagan Relaxing, Pondering Future

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan drives himself around town these days. He does repair work on his old ranch home. But he doesn't intend to leave public life entirely.

His chores, such as building a fence at his Santa Barbara ranch and roofing his home there, will be sandwiched between nationwide speaking tours, radio commentary shows and a newspaper column.

Just a week out of office, the former Republican governor of California said in an interview Monday that while it is a relief not to have the governor's responsibilities any more, he misses the authority to take action when he sees a problem.

He was nostalgic but cheerful and relaxed as he discussed his first week as private citizen after eight years as governor of the nation's most populous state, a job he declined to seek for a third four-year term.

He said he now enjoys more time for himself and for projects such as fencing his ranch.

On the political side, Reagan, 63, starts a three-state speaking tour today with a speech before the Dallas chapter of the Texas Manufacturers Association.

Later this week, he will take his conservative message to audiences in San Antonio, Tex.; Nashville, Tenn.; and Richmond, Va. He started a weekly newspaper column this week, and his daily syndicated radio commentary show starts next Monday.

Both friends and critics see Reagan's appearances, columns and broadcasts as part of a potential 1976 presidential campaign. But Reagan insists he is only trying to advance his viewpoint.

He does, however, stop short of totally disavowing any presidential campaign.

Tigers Open Two-Game SCOL Lead

Circleville got some room at the top Tuesday, parlaying a 62-50 win over Washington C.H. (their 11th straight) with Miami Trace's 71-68 victory over Greenfield for a two-game edge in the South Central Ohio League.

The Tigers of Coach John Lawhorn are now 7-0 in the loop with five games to go. Greenfield dropped to 5-2 and Washington C.H., Miami Trace, Unioto, and Hillsboro are all stacked at 3-4. Wilmington is winless in six games. In another Tuesday contest, Unioto dumped Hillsboro, 70-65.

Circleville won the game by hanging tough in the second half for a 34-22 edge in scoring. And it was as much a defensive effort for the Tigers, as they limited the hot-shooting Lions to just 10 markers in the final quarter.

The Tigers shot a cool 50 per cent from the floor on 27 baskets in 54 attempts after getting off to a slow start. WCH managed 24 of 56 for 42.8 per cent, an excellent shooting night considering the length of shots they took.

The Tigers cashed in eight of 11 free throws, while the Lions hit two of three, both in the second quarter.

Washington held a strong edge in rebounding in the first half that gave them a 32-26 bulge by the end of the game. It was their early control of the boards that gave Circleville fans cause for concern in the first half.

George Moore, Harold "Willis" Reed, and Biff Bumgarner paced the Tiger offensive production.

Moore scored 18 points on eight of 11 from the floor and two of three foul shots. He had 10 rebounds.

Reed hit for 17 points, keeping Circleville in the game when the going got rough, and Bumgarner scored 15 with seven rebounds. Biff was a hawk on defense, scoring at least 10 of his points on unassisted steals.

Mike McCoy played a strong game at guard for Circleville, chipping in with eight points, and Perry Hoskins hit for four.

Hoskins' contribution was his defense, however, as he hawked Lion star Chuck Byrd all over the court.

Perry picked up his third foul with 2:10 left in the first period, sat out the rest of the period, and then came back to play errorless ball. He didn't draw another foul until there was less than a minute remaining in the game.

Byrd, even though dogged by Hoskins, finished with 28 points. Most of his 27 shots were long-range bombs.

He had 12 rebounds.

Doug Phillips, a 6-3 junior, canned 18 for the Lions, again long jump shots. The two players managed all but four of their team's total.

Circleville started the game in typical Tiger fashion.

After Byrd hooped a jumper from the corner to break the ice, Circleville reeled off 10 straight points. However, it was not that easy.

The Lions used a loose 1-2-2 zone that limited Circleville to only one shot at the bucket. The Tigers forced their shots, and got the scores only on breakaways.

The Lions would work the middle against the Tiger man-to-man, allowing Bumgarner to come up with three straight steals for easy layups.

With 2:55 left in the period, and Circleville holding a 14-4 bulge, the Lions got hot and shaved the margin to 16-10 at the quarter.

Circleville quickly built it back to 10, 22-12, in the second quarter, but WCH pecked away to stay within stroking distance. After Bumgarner canned a layup and free throw with 3:19 left to give Circleville a 26-18 edge, the Tigers did not score again until there were 10 seconds left.

Bumgarner's tip this time knotted the count at 28-all at the half.

Circleville got their offense in gear in the second half. Hoskins, McCoy, and Bumgarner drew the Lion defense away from the key to allow Moore or Reed to slip in from the weak side for easy baskets.

The Tigers quickly built up a five point lead, had it hacked to one, and then built it back to five for a 45-40 edge after three periods.

And the Lions never threatened in the final period as the Tigers moved out to a nine-point lead and kept adding on.

Circleville will be hosting Unioto Friday as they try to keep their lead in the SCOL.

SUMMARY

CIRCLEVILLE — Hoskins, 1-2-4; Bumgarner, 7-1-15; Reed, 8-1-17; Moore, 8-2-18; McCoy, 3-2-8. Totals, 27-8-62.

WASHINGTON C.H. — Phillips, 9-0-18; Denen, 1-0-2; Byrd, 14-0-28; Shaw, 0-2-2. Totals, 24-2-50.

Tigers Drop Reserve Tilt

The Circleville reserves went down to their third defeat of the year, a 61-54 loss to Washington C.H. in overtime Tuesday.

Circleville held slim leads of 15-14 after the first period, 26-24 at the half, and 40-39 after three periods.

The Lions, missing several foul shot attempts at the end of regulation play, tied the game in the last stages and actually went ahead.

But Tom McGuire crashed in for a layup with 17 seconds remaining to knot the count at 47-all. The Tigers took the ball in the Lion end seconds later and scored on a Frank Merrill layup. But the shot was negated by the officials.

In the overtime, Circleville missed three foul shots as Washington blitzed to the win.

The Lions were paced by Mark Heiny who cashed in for 20 points.

Rusty Holbrook had 19 for Circleville, Tom McGuire had 12, and Frank Merrill had 11.

TVJH Teams Split Games

John Sanders scored 20 points to lead the Teays Valley 7th graders to a 35-26 win over West Jefferson Tuesday, their eighth straight win.

Besides Sanders, TV got six points from Dean Brown, four from R. D. Roese, three from Bill Pettibone, and two from Joie Ruggles.

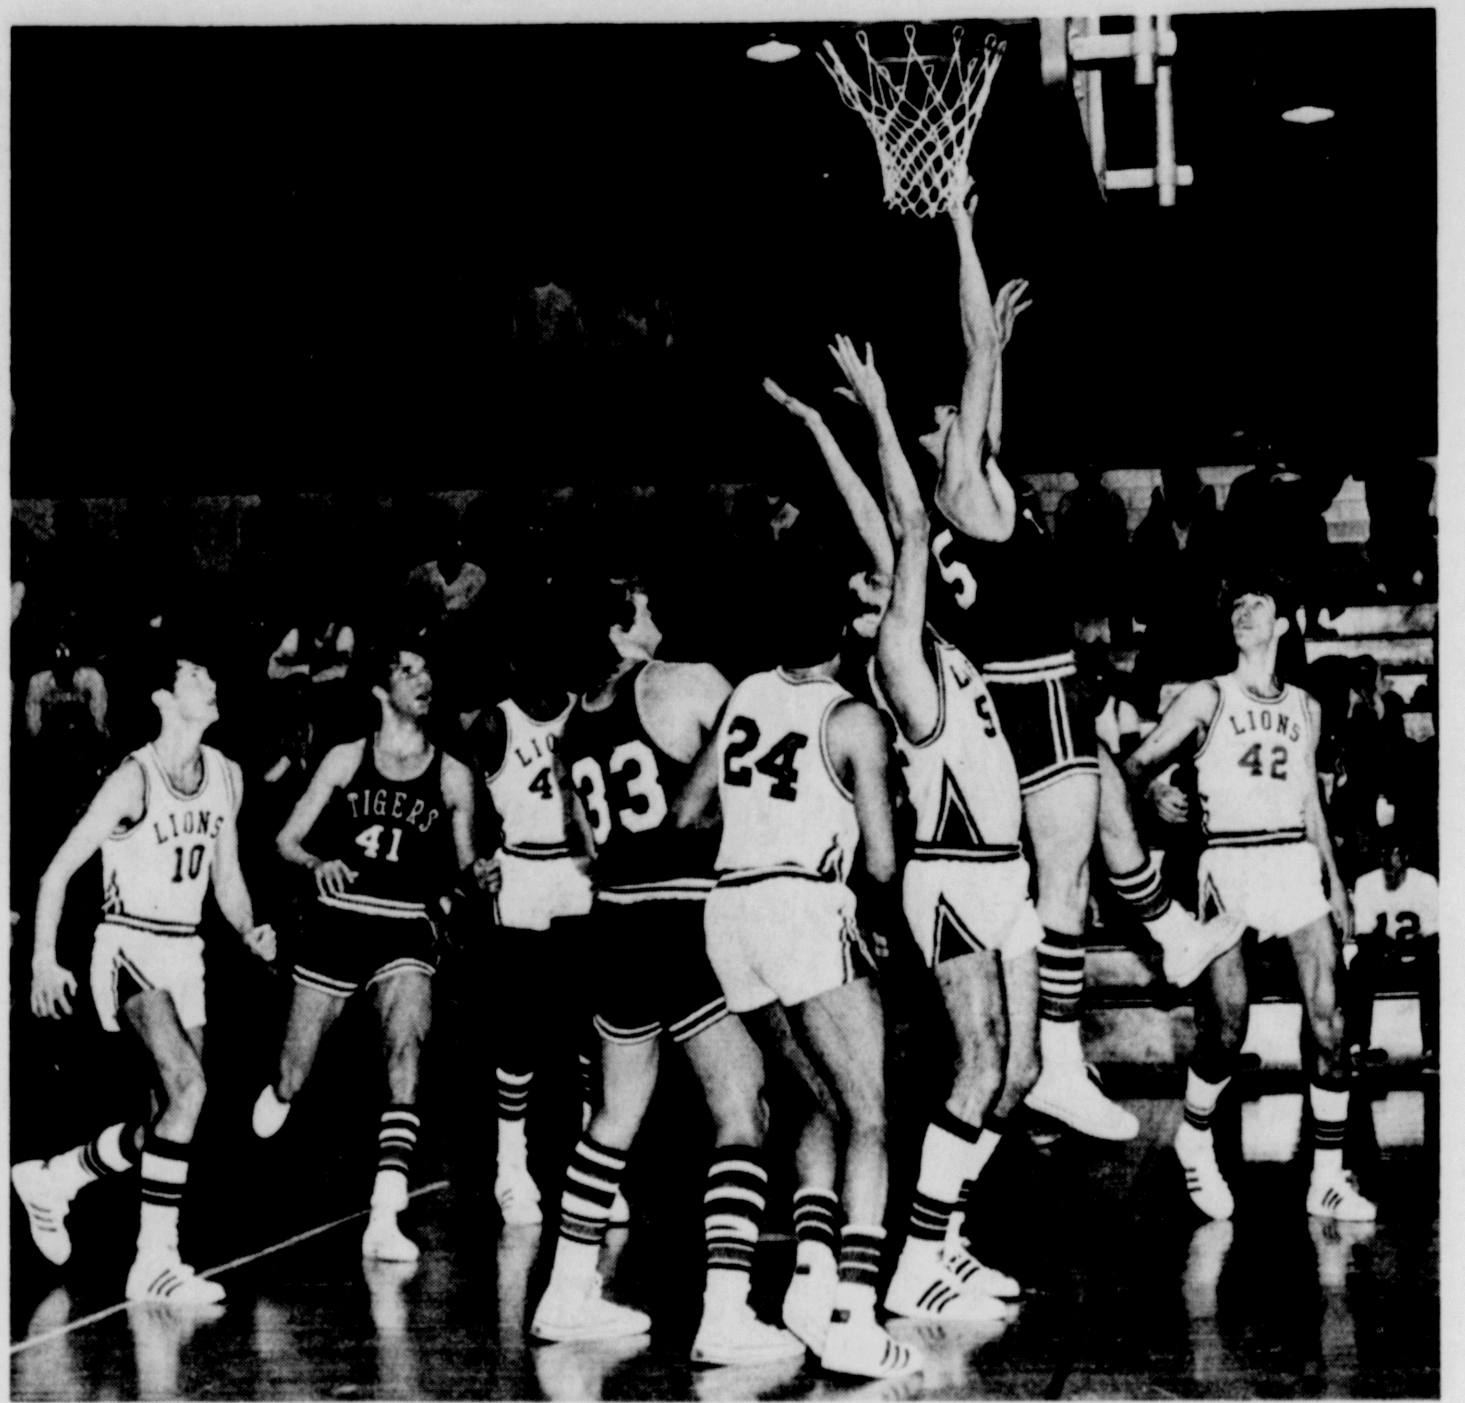

The Viking 8th graders were beaten by West Jefferson, 32-25.

Yancy Toney scored eight points, Jeff Welch hit for six, Rex Pierce scored four, Doug Helsel scored three, and Carl Hardbarger and Mark Prater had two each.

Both TV teams will be in action Thursday when they travel to Zane Trace for 6 p.m. games.

CHS Boosters Meet

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

UNDER FOR TWO—Willis Reed, Circleville high-scoring forward, slips under the Washington C. H. zone for a basket in the second half of Circleville's 62-50 win Tuesday night. Other Tigers in the picture are George Moore (41) and Biff Bumgarner (33). Lions are Mark Shaw (10), Dewey Foster (44), Chuck Byrd (24), Doug Phillips (52), and John Denen (42). Reed scored 17 points, Moore hit 18, and Bumgarner had 15 to pace the win.

Ali To Battle Wepner; Cleveland Coliseum Chosen

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali says Chuck Wepner, a journeyman heavyweight who makes more money selling liquor than in the ring, deserves the shot at the heavyweight championship Ali is scheduled to give him in March.

Ali also said Tuesday as he received the Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award for 1974, a year in which he beat Joe Frazier and regained the title from George Foreman:

"If I'm like I should be, he (Wepner) has no possibility to win."

This immediately brought up the question that will the public buy a fight, even an Ali fight, against an unranked opponent who has been called the "Bayonne Bleeder" because of his reputation as a bleeder.

"Go to the promoter and ask him why he put up the $1.5 million," replied Ali.

The promoter is Don King, the site is the Cleveland Coliseum, the date is March 24 — and Herbert Muhammad, Ali's manager, said Tuesday, "the fight is definitely on."

King apparently came up with the $1.5 million guarantee before the Tuesday deadline set by Muhammad, who said if King didn't get the money, Ali would fight third-ranked Ron Lyle March 24 at the Garden.

Muhammad said he now would like Ali to fight Lyle in the Garden in June, and "if we don't get the fight we want in June with the Garden, we will think about fighting Joe Bugner (the European heavyweight champion) in London."

As soon as Mike Burke, President of Madison Square Garden Corp., returns from out of town, "we'll get a hold of Herbert and close the fight," said Garden Boxing boss Teddy Brenner. Brenner said Ali would get $2.2 million for fighting Lyle, who is expected to receive $300,000.

Wepner's pay to fight Ali has been mentioned as $100,000, which would be far larger than any previous purse the 32-year-old Bayonne, N.J., fighter has previously earned in a career in which he has 30 wins, nine losses and two draws.

In fact, Ali's diamond-studded Hickok Award belt, valued at $15,000, is worth more than Wepner has earned in any fight.

Wheelchair Basketball Game Set

The Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults will hold its annual wheelchair basketball game 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8 at the Circleville Junior High School Gymnasium, E. Mill St.

The Buckeye Wheelers from Columbus will participate in the game again this year. Circleville Jaycees and city and county high school facilities have been asked to play against the Buckeye Wheelers. The halftime show is still in the planning stages.

Tickets will be sold at all the area schools, and funds will go into this year's campaign.

The committee members are: Richar Plum, Myrna Siniff, Carolyn Daub, Patty Kirkwood, Helen McGinnis, Margaret Helwigen, Ida Warren, Lois Ely, Ruth Goeller, Blanche Kerns and Judy Stant.

Shane Curtis will be recognized at the game as this year's Pickaway County Easter Seal Child. This year's campaign begins Feb. 22.

Tiger Freshmen Rip Washington

The Circleville freshmen rolled to their eighth straight win Monday, a 45-39 conquest of Washington C.H.

Circleville jumped off to 12-6 first period lead, extended it to 25-14 at the half, and 32-18 after three periods.

Toren Bensonhaver scored 23 points for the Tiger frosh, Larry Reed hit 15, Dave Holbrook scored three, Roy Huffer hit for two, and Dave Marshall and Todd Mancini had one each.

The Tigers will play at Greenfield Tuesday.

East Tops West In NBA Clash

PHOENIX (AP) — Walt "Clyde" Frazier, the New York Knicks' imperturbable guard, came out the biggest winner in the 25th National Basketball Association All-Star Game.

Not only did he receive the game's Most Valuable Player award for scoring 30 points and leading the East to a 108-102 upset victory over the West Tuesday night, but he collected $500.25 ... 25 cents more than any other member of the winning team.

The extra quarter was the result of a "fun bet" Frazier had made prior to the game with the East's 12-year-old ballboy.

The youngster thought the West was going to win and he put up his money against Frazier's. And after the game Frazier was just as willing to take it, after some friendly razzing with the youngster.

This was the second of Frazier's two consecutive brilliant games at Veteran's Memorial Coliseum, where a record crowd of 12,885 turned out for the glittering, nationally televised All-Star Game.

Only last Saturday, in the Knicks' final game prior to the All-Star break, Frazier connected for 43 points — one short of his career high — against the Phoenix Suns.

Pro Bowl Nears; Players Practice

MIAMI (AP) — Players admit that they value the social aspects of the Pro Bowl over the Monday night game itself but insist they'll put out good efforts in the nationally televised contest.

"We don't want to lose a game like this," Buffalo running back O.J. Simpson said Tuesday. "You've got a lot of friends you're representing and you want your conference to be the best."

The American and National Football Conference honor squads, selected by coaches, began daily 90-minute workouts Tuesday. The rest of the time is spent relaxing and socializing.

"It's really an honor, a very prestigious thing," linebacker Bill Bergey of the Philadelphia Eagles said of the game. "But after the Super Bowl, there's a lot of people who feel it is anticlimactic."

The social aspects and a desire to avoid controversy were pointed out by Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler.

Stabler irritated Minnesota and Pittsburgh boosters by saying before the Steelers' 16-6 Super Bowl victory over the Vikings that Oakland and Miami were the best clubs in the NFL.

Asked if Pittsburgh's onesided triumph had changed his mind about who the best clubs were, Stabler replied: "I still feel the same way. But I don't want you printing that this week and ruining our get-togethers here. The best part about this to me is meeting players personally that I've played against."

"Besides, I'm sure (Miami Dolphins quarterback) Bob Griese feels the same way about his team being best. It's just natural."

Stabler said it wasn't logical to expect the players to be at their best for the Pro Bowl because of the short preparation time and the limited offenses and defenses installed for the game.

The AFC, which has won six of the last seven Super Bowls, will be seeking its third straight Pro Bowl triumph. Pre-game ticket sales were reported to be slow.

Denver Nuggets Top Colonels; Win 118-99

DENVER (AP) — A series of nagging injuries failed to prevent the Denver Nuggets from posting their 23rd straight American Basketball Association victory at home Tuesday night.

The streaking Nuggets, playing without veteran guard Mack Calvin, got standout performances from a pair of youngsters in rolling over the Kentucky Colonels 118-99.

Marquette Tops S.C., 69-60

MILWAUKEE (AP) — He kicked a chair. He cajoled his players. He pleaded with the officials. And he had the Milwaukee Arena capacity crowd of 10,938 in an uproar.

But all Coach Al McGuire really had to do was tell his other Marquette University basketball players to feed Bo Ellis.

Ellis poured in 14 of his 21 points in the second half, most of them at crucial junctures, to lead the 12th-ranked Warriors to a 69-60 victory over No. 20 South Carolina Tuesday night and give Al the rubber match in the running battle of the McGuires.

"No, Al didn't show us anything we hadn't seen before. He just has another good team, a very quick one with very good balance and a good bench," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire, who coached Al at St. John's, N.Y., University a quarter century ago.

Al McGuire, while no longer a kid, was sufficiently charged by coaching against his former tutor that he leaped to his feet, whirled and kicked his chair. It happened midway through the first half, when the Gamecocks were encroaching on what had been an eight point Marquette lead.

Marquette built its lead to 10 points two minutes before halftime, then saw it cut to 34-32 early in the second half. Ellis, however, countered with five straight points.

The Gamecocks responded with what proved to be their final threat, closing to within 49-48 behind the outside shooting of Nate Davis and the inside work of 6-foot-9 Tommy Boswell.

But Warriors Earl Tatum, Lloyd Walton and freshman Butch Lee hit successive baskets. A layup and two free throws by Lee, who scored 14 points, made it 61-52 with 5:08 left.

Marquette protected its lead by running delay patterns and sinking free throws.

The Marquette-South Carolina game was the highlight of a light college basketball night. No other ranked teams were in action.

Elsewhere, Duquesne beat St. Bonaventure 96-91; North Texas State defeated Bradley 69-64; Princeton whipped Temple 59-48; St. John's N.Y., downed Rhode Island 100-75; Bucknell ripped Cornell 76-63; the Air Force Academy stopped Southern Colorado State 51-43 and Memphis State routed Buffalo State 138-92. Harvard beat Northeastern 80-67 and Boston College whipped Boston University 86-78 in the first round of the Beanpot Tournament. Kip McLane poured in 20 points to lead Duquesne to a fast-paced victory over St. Bonaventure. Duquesne, 7-3, led for most of the early going but was overhauled by the Bonnies with 12 minutes to play. St. Bonaventure went ahead on a shot by Greg Sanders, but the Dukes regained the lead for good, 71-70, at the 10:38 mark with a Jesse Hubbard basket.

Terry Bailey and Larry Spruiell led a second-half surge that carried North Texas State University over Bradley. It was Bailey who sank the last two free throws with 31 seconds left in the game that put the victory away for the Mean Green.

Mickey Steuerer and Barnes Hauptfuhrer hit short jumpers early and often as Princeton sank 11 of its first 15 shots and went on to an easy victory over Temple.

Miller Eyes Tucson Open Victory

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Record-setting Johnny Miller is looking for a second leg on another sweep in this week's $200,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

And the young man — the Player of the Year in 1974, a record winner in last week's Phoenix Open and the game's outstanding performer over the last 18 months — is heavily favored to win again.

"I don't like to look too far ahead," Miller said, "but if I could win here, I think I'd have a good chance to sweep the first three again."

Miller won the first three tournaments on the tour last year — the first time that has ever been accomplished.

He scored a record 14-stroke victory in the season-opener in Phoenix last week, is defending here and has the third coming up next week in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am in Pebble Beach, Calif.

The 72-hole chase here for a $40,000 first prize begins Thursday on the beefed-up, 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National Golf Club course. The desert layout ranks among the longest tourists play all season. It has been toughened this year by the addition of ponds on the eighth and ninth holes.

Elk Hunting Proves No Picnic

FICKLER'S CAMP, Mont. (AP) — "They just don't have a full tea bag, that's all."

"I wouldn't go down there for all the elk in Montana."

W.J. "Bud" Gelling was standing astraddle the Continental Divide some 8,500 feet high in the Rocky Mountains.

His "tea-bag" reference was to the Irish term defining the amount of mass between a person's ears and seemed appropriate.

Holding the reins of his horse in one hand and cupping a cigarette in the other, the 65-year-old carpenter from the mining city of Butte looked over the wind-swept slope of Caribou Mountain into the vast valley below, squinted at his companions who were thinking of going down there and said: "Go ahead, I'll find my way back to camp."

Some of the hunters had spotted a herd of elk the day before. Getting to them would be one thing. If someone got lucky and killed an elk, it would simply be the start of an excruciating ordeal — for man and horse.

The Butte carpenter is an elk hunter's elk hunter. He figures over a lifetime of hunting the Montana back-country he has taken some 50 elk, not all of them shot within the rules.

"We never thought anything about seasons — just hunted year around. Didn't waste anything, though."

The trip had started at a cabin north of the Blackfoot River near Lincoln. From there, it was a 10-mile horseback ride into the Lincoln-Sagegoat Wilderness to Fickler's Camp, a special-use area set aside for a commercial hunting camp.

It took three hours to make the ride with the small pack string. The hunters found nothing short of wilderness luxury. The four-tent compound, 14 miles from the nearest telephone, came complete with a four-burner propane stove and oven.

Before dawn each morning the horses were saddled and provisions packed. Elk and deer, plus a healthy smattering of grizzly and black bear, abound in this country.

Some of the hunters said this year's hunt was the worst in years. The fall had been mild. There was little snow, even on the high ridges.

One big buck deer was taken early and a few cow elk were sighted.

The entire week of hunting yielded only two buck deer and finally one elk.

Griff Davidson, a 24-year-old rodeo rider and hunting guide, shot the elk in the massive valley that lay east of the Continental Divide. It was still open to hunting of elk and some of the hunters finally decided to make the desperation trip.

It was an eight-mile horseback ride just to the ridge where the hunt started. And taking the elk was only half the problem.

Pack horses were brought up the next day and it took 14 hours to get the meat back to camp.

Gelling was right. The hunters had only half a tea-bag at best "and maybe even less."

Capital Tops Kenyon Lords

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kenyon Lords, No. 2 in the Ohio Conference, quietly succumbed to the Capital Crusaders 66-49 Tuesday night in Ohio College basketball action.

Capital jumped out to a 10-2 lead, and the Lords never challenged during the game, despite the game-high 29 points scored by Kenyon's Tim Appleton.

It was Kenyon's first loss in conference play. Wittenberg, No. 1 in the conference, was idle Tuesday night.

In other Ohio Conference action, Wooster pulled away during the first half to chalk up a 62-47 victory over Ohio Northern, while Heidelberg edged Oberlin 49-48.

In the President's Conference, Tony Bolden hit 28 points to lead Hiram to an 85-74 victory over Thiel.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, Bob Martin hit a 30-foot jump shot with three seconds left to break a deadlock and give Defiance an 81-79 victory over Anderson of Indiana.

In Mid-Ohio Conference action, it was Rio Grande 80, Tiffin 65, and Malone 82, Cedarville 48.

Nolan Ryan of the California Angels recorded 367 American League strikeouts in 1974.

Bonefish, a trotter, and Alert Bret, a pacer, have been voted harness racing's top 2-year-olds in 1974.

ABA Stars Are Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — George McGinnis, the league's leading scorer, was a near-unanimous choice and the leading vote-getter on the West squad for the eighth annual American Basketball Association All-Star Game, the ABA announced today.

McGinnis, a 6-foot-8 forward, received 197.8 of a possible 200 points in voting by sports writers and sportscasters in each of the league's 10 cities and was a unanimous choice in all cities except Denver and San Antonio.

He is averaging 29 points a game, is among the league leaders in rebounding and assists and will be appearing in his third consecutive All-Star Game since coming into the league.

Joining McGinnis in the West's starting line-up will be San Antonio's George Gervin at the other forward, Gwen Nater of San Antonio at center and Mack Calvin of Denver and Ron Boone of Utah at the guards.

The game will be played Jan. 28 at the HemisFair Arena in San Antonio. The East starters will be named Thursday with the balance of both squads to be announced Saturday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Once again, the Kentucky State Thoroughbreds have finished lengths ahead of the field.

Kentucky State, the favorite with 27 consecutive regular season triumphs, romped over New Orleans by a margin of 92 votes to retain the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press college basketball poll, released Wednesday.

The purse, which consisted of 20 first-place votes and 344 points, was awarded on the strength of Kentucky State's two victories last week. Coach Lucias Mitchell's Thoroughbreds, 9-0 through Sat. Jan. 11, edged Wabash 78-69 and blitzed Lincoln, Mo., 91-68.

New Orleans, 10-0, was a strong second, claiming five first-place votes and 252 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters after edging Southern Louisiana 65-62.

Gardner-Webb remained in third place with two first-place votes and 214 points. The Bulldogs slammed Lenior Rhyme 81-58 and went on to trounce Catawba 91-84.

Jackson State held fast to the No. 4 slot, collecting one firstplace vote and 162 points for defeating Daniel Payne 106-73 and Alcorn State 109-97. Next was The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, up a notch from last week with 135 points. The Moccasins were stomped by Southern Florida 103-87, but recovered to trample their next three opponents, flattening West Florida 133-100, Eastern Illinois 99-78, and Mercer 84-83.

There was a wholesale reshuffling among the other ranked schools.

Southern University at Baton Rouge, 11-0, vaulted from 10th to sixth place, capping a week of victories. Southern U. was awarded 131 points after beating Grambling 126-111, the University of Arkansas at Little Rock 119-110 and Wiley 108-63.

Bentley climbed from eighth to seventh place among the select group, trimming Acadia 94-81 and St. Mary's, Halifax 95-83 and receiving 94 points.

Old Dominion slipped from seventh to eighth place, polling 62 points after bowing to George Washington 75-69 and then defeating Bloomsburg State 107-79.

Eastern Illinois, 50 points, tumbled from the fifth to the ninth slot, losing two straight before topping Missouri-St. Louis 88-68.

Armstrong State moved up from 11th to 10th place after whipping Valdosta St. 71-68. The Pirates tallied 46 points.

Rounding out the top 15 were Augustana, S.D., up from 13th place with 34 points; Cameron with one first place vote and 28 points; Morgan State, down from ninth place with 24 points; Youngstown State and newcomer Randolph Macon. Assumption dropped from the rankings.

Referral Specialist Speaker
For Service Agencies Meeting

THE REV. DAVID ALLARDYCE AND ALICIA POLIS

Guest speaker for the Tuesday luncheon meeting of Pickaway County Service Agencies in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church was Alicia Polis.

The Rev. David Allardyce gave the invocation and guests introduced were Don Strous, Dick Tootle and Bob Liston, County Commissioners; Jay Clevenger, director of the Mental Retardation Program, Harold Hewitt of Pickaway County Family YMCA and Marcella Kern, representing Circleville Schools.

Hewitt showed slides and explained plans for the new building to be constructed on Nicholas Drive, the facilities it will have and said the project is a community endeavor.

Leona Riegel introduced the guest speaker who explained her work as Referral Specialist for Central Ohio Agency on Aging.

She told of her experiences as a child using facilities of the YMCA in Cincinnati and said she enjoyed working with them.

Pickaway County is one of eight in the Central Ohio Agency. Formerly each county took care of its own services and there was no regional planning. Grouping of the counties permits enlargement of programs to benefit the area where they all are coordinated.

Many people are not aware of what services are available for them. Since last June, Vera Saunders has served the county with information and referral service through Pickaway Senior Center.

"Tell Me Where To Turn" was the title of a movie shown presenting hypothetical cases where people needed help in different fields and how after being refused by many agencies they were able to get the aid needed through the Referral Service Agency.

Miss Polis attended Miami University and graduated from the University of Arizona in 1970. She taught school for two years in Columbus and was employed by the Franklin County Council on Aging until her present work.

Cable Addition
In Service

A major cable addition for growth in the Circleville exchange has been placed in service, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the $25,600 addition will beef up facilities in the southeastern area of the exchange.

Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons, Anderson added. Buried cable was utilized on the project.

Burying cable enhances the natural beauty of the landscape and reduces service outages due to severe weather conditions and auto accidents, the manager said.

The Circleville exchange serves 12,298 telephones in a 187.4-square-mile-area of Pickaway and Fairfield counties.

Ohio Department
Of Agriculture
'Licenses' NFO

National Farmers Organization Inc. of Corning, Iowa, has been granted licenses in livestock dealership and weighing and grain dealership by the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

The NFO has numerous livestock collection points throughout Ohio where producer members transact business. These producer members assemble livestock at these points and transfer them to packers. NFO negotiates, solicits and otherwise assists the collection points and receives a commission in the form of a checkoff for its services.

NFO also has a representative in Ohio who negotiates grain transactions on behalf of farmer producer-members for which NFO receives a checkoff from producer members for services rendered.

Under Ohio law, these services must be licensed. Each of the licenses has been granted "under protest."

In One-Car Accident

Nineteen-year-old Ronald D. Lowery, Washington C. H. was cited, by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon, for speed unreasonable for road conditions, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Lowery, traveling south on the Harrisburg-Darbyville Road, failed to negotiate sharp curve to the right. The auto skidded off the icy road, hitting three wooden posts and two small trees before coming to rest against another fence post.

Lowery and a passenger, Charles E. Christopher, 22, Route 2, Williamsport, were referred to a doctor for minor injuries.

Players Plan Auditions
For 'Popper's Penguins'

Try-outs for "Mr. Popper's Penguins," a Roundtown Players production, will be held Sunday at Memorial Hall.

Auditions have been scheduled for pre-school children at 2 p.m., elementary children at 3 p.m., and junior high and senior high students at 4 p.m.

Production dates are March 14 and 15.

"Mr. Popper's Penguins" is the story of a happy family whose hobby is related to the South Pole explorations. It has been adapted for the stage by Rosemary Musil.

The cast consists of the parents and their two children, a friendly neighbor lady, a theater agent, a stage manager, a delivery man, an opera singer, Admiral Drake, and a number of penguins.

B. J. Sowers, the director, is planning to work with an all-youth cast as nearly as possible. She will be assisted by Mrs. Helen Blum.

Mrs. Clara Teegardin is the music director and Miss Becky Sowers is the choreographer. Mrs. Edith Grigg is casting coordinator and Mrs. Pat Stonerock is production coordinator.

Group Raps
Ohio EPA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Lung Association criticized the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency Tuesday for its decision to eliminate some air pollution controls from major utilities.

"The present situation is a contradiction of terms and policies between state and federal EPA's," said Dale C. Hollern, executive director.

Late last year the Ohio EPA announced that a group of utilities would be permitted to disregard certain air pollution control regulations because of costs and installation problems.

At the time, EPA Director Ira L. Whitman expressed his faith in the controls.

"We find that some utilities are actually installing the systems they claim won't work," Hollern said.

He recommended that utilities be prohibited from raising rates because they costing the public millions of dollars for medical bills and health care from damaged respiratory systems.

Ford . . .

cash rebates on 1974 tax payments, with a maximum of $1,000 per return, Ford sketched a rather gloomy picture of current economic conditions.

He said: "I must say to you that the state of the union is not good."

"Millions of Americans are out of work. Recession and inflation are eroding the money of millions more. Prices are too high and sales are too slow."

"This year's federal deficit will be about $30 billion; next year's probably $45 billion. The national debt will rise to over $500 billion."

"Our plant capacity and productivity are not increasing fast enough. We depend on others for essential energy."

"Cutting taxes, now, is essential if we are to turn the economy around," Ford added. "A tax cut offers the best hope of creating more jobs. Unfortunately, it will increase the size of the budget deficit. Therefore, it is more important than ever that we take steps to control the growth of federal expenditures."

Echoing what he said Monday, Ford promised to initiate no new spending programs this year except in the energy field.

"Further, he said, 'I will not hesitate to veto any new spending programs adopted by the Congress.'"

Ford said some Americans "question their government's ability to make the hard decisions and stick with them." They expect from Washington "politics as usual," he said.

Asserting that the nation's plight requires "a new partnership between the Congress, the White House and the people we both represent," Ford said: "I want to speak very bluntly. I've got bad news and I don't expect any applause. The American people want action and it will take both the Congress and the President to give them what they want."

In the energy area, Ford said he would propose a 10-year postponement of clean air standards, due to take effect in mid-1975, for power plants that convert from use of oil to coal. He said this would not sacrifice clean air goals but simply delay their implementation.

The President also called for legislation "to make thermal efficiency standards mandatory for all new buildings in the United States," saying these standards would be set "after appropriate consultation with architects, builders and labor."

Expousing a new tax credit of up to $150 for homeowners who install storm windows or other insulation, Ford called for a new federal aid program "to help low-income families purchase insulation supplies." The fact sheet said he would seek supplemental appropriations of $500 million to carry such a program through 1976.

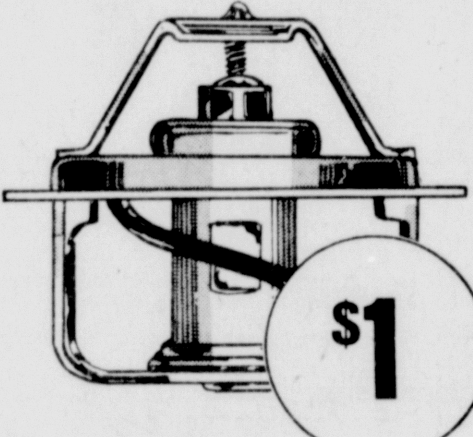

As he stated on Monday, Ford proposed modifying and deferring auto pollution standards for five years "to enable us to improve new automobile gas mileage 40 per cent by 1980" through voluntary means.

The President reiterated his proposal to increase all crude oil prices by imposing a $2-a-barrel excise tax and import fees with the aim of discouraging production.

This would be accompanied by deregulation of new natural gas prices and enactment of a natural gas excise tax of 37 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, enactment of a windfall profits tax on oil producers and decontrol of the price of domestic crude oil on April 1.

All these steps except decontrol of crude prices require congressional consideration.
